TOKIO, Nov. 14, 6 p. m.—The Emperor presided over an extended conference of the military and naval staffs at the Palace today. The proceedings were secret but it is understood that His Majesty discussed with the officers plans for meeting the vessels of the Russian Second Pacific squadron when they arrive in Far-Eastern waters.

WATER COMMITTEE SUBMITS PROPOSITIONS TO PEOPLE.

Asks Vote on Bay Cities Scheme to Cost $5,750,000 and on Underground Plant to Cost $3,500,000.

The following is the proposition the Special Water Committee, appointed by President Dornin of the Council, has prepared for submission to the people:

To the Voters of Oakland—The City Council appointed the undersigned a special committee to investigate and report upon propositions presented to it for acquiring a water supply for the city. After consultation with all the members of the Council and receiving their approval, it has been determined to submit for your consideration two propositions, with the request that you express your preference by making on the enclosed card a cross opposite the plan or project you prefer. Then sign your name, enclose the card in the stamed envelope sent you herewith and mail it.

If you do not favor either plan, say so. DO NOT FAIL TO SIGN YOUR NAME. No card will be considered that is not signed by the voter.

The Reasons Why the Committee Favors the Proposed Plans and Their Respective Advantages.

GENERALLY.

Some of our citizens undoubtedly prefer the purchase of the Contra Costa plant and distributing system, provided it could be bought at a valuation not exorbitant. This is in accord with the idea of the Committee, but this Committee is certain that a purchase at anything like a reasonable price is impossible, for the reason among others that although the company made a written agreement a short time since to sell or lease its plant to the city at a valuation to be fixed by a board of engineers, and in the meantime to accept rates based on such value, it promptly repudiated the agreement when the time came to put it in effect. Moreover the company has not made any further offer either to the Council or to this committee.

Oakland has, therefore, no alternative but to construct or buy an independent system. The committee has considered various propositions and has eliminated all but two. The committee is unanimous in saying that both of these are good and that either plan will subserve the needs of the City. There is a slight diversity of opinion in the committee as to preference, but that is all. Both plans contemplated laying by the city of a complete distributive system that shall be modern, up to date, and of the very best material. In addition, the city must erect and maintain a pumping plant near the Fruitvale boundary line for forcing the water to a distributing reservoir at sufficient height. The cost of this distributing system, pumping plant and reservoir will not exceed $2,000,000. This cost must be added to any estimate of cost for either of the two plans. We shall now take up these two plans separately.

THE BAY CITIES WATER COMPANY'S PROPOSITION.

The Bay Cities Water Company claims to own large bodies of land about the headwaters of Del Valle and Santa Isabel Creeks, including sites for reservoirs and the right to impound all the waters of those creeks, except the ordinary summer flow. In other words this corporation claims the right to impound all the storm waters running down those creeks at times of storm and which go to waste. It proposes to build two impounding dams, one at the Santa Isabel at an elevation of 2200 feet, the other on the Del Valle at an elevation of 1700 feet and connect the two by a tunnel. These impounding dams will store enough water to supply the city daily with at least 20,000,000 gallons of water.

It also proposes by sufficient conduits to convey this water to the city boundary and then deed to the city the lands, reservoirs, water rights and pipe lines, and give a bond in the sum of $1,000,000 to indemnify and hold harmless the city against any suits or claims of adverse rights to the use of this water.

The consideration the city must pay to the Bay Cities is $3,750,000.

But before undertaking the work the proposition of the Bay Cities Water Company also provides that a board of three engineers shall be selected, one by the city, one by the Bay Cities Water Company and they two to select a third. This board is to examine the property to be conveyed and decide as to the sufficiency of the water supply, the plans of dams, and the sufficiency and character of the work in general. If the board reports adversely on these physical features of the proposition, or the quality of the water, the Bay Cities Water Company will pay all the costs of employing these engineers and their necessary expenses. If it reports favorably, then the city must pay half the expense of the board and must submit a bond proposition to the voters of the city looking to the adoption of this scheme. In other words, if the Board of Engineers reports favorably, the Council will be bound to sumbit the proposition for final vote.

The Council would like to know your opinion now on this plan as compared with the other, of which we shall presently speak, before entering into the agreement with the Bay Cities Water Company for a board of engineers and to submit a bond issue.

Here are some of the reasons in favor of the Bay Cities Water Company's proposition:

1. THE QUANTITY OF WATER. If this proposition is carried out the city will obtain a daily supply of 20,000,000 gallons of water. This is more than the city needs at the present time but the day is not far distant when it will need this and more. The quantity is about twice what the Contra Costa Water Company furnishes. That company claims to furnish more, but we believe those claims are unfounded. Certainly 12,000,000 gallons per day is a liberal estimate of the supply we get from Lake Chabot and the Alvarado wells. The former proposition made to the city by the Bay Cities Water Company only proposed to take waters of the Del Valle Creek and Mr. Fitzgerald, expert for the city, reported that in case of a drought of 640 days the supply of water in the Del Valle Creek, after supplying the just demands of riparian owners below, would only give between eleven and twelve million gallons per day. Under the new, or present proposition the waters of Santa Isabel Creek are to be added, which, even according to the method of calculation of Mr. Fitzgerald, will give the desired supply of more than 20,000,000 gallons per day even in the severest drought yet known in California.

2. THE QUALITY OF WATER. It is mountain water and all Californians know what that is. The storage reservoirs are at an elevation respectively of 1700 feet and 2200 feet. The mountains are steep, rocky and inaccessible. The water is soft and there is very little chance for pasturage and no other possible chance of contamination.

3. THE COST. The price asked by the Bay Cities Water Company is, in our opinion moderate. The Contra Costa Water Company claims its plant is worth more than $7,000,000. This plant has an old distributive system, pipe lines that have seen their best days and a water supply from Lake Chabot, which is itself supplied by creeks running through a settled and agricultural country. Its system can not deliver anything like 20,000,000 gallons per day. We do not believe it can exceed 12,000,000 gallons per day. In the event of a prolonged drought Lake Chabot is certain to fail. Adding $2,000,000 for a distributive system to the $3,750,000 asked by the Bay Cities Water Company makes a total of $5,750,000. But for that amount the city will get a new, first class distributing system, pumping plants, new pipe lines and at least 20,000,000 gallons of water per day.

Reliable estimates have been made showing that consumers of water in our city can pay the bonds necessary for the new plant, both principal and interest, during the forty years they have to run, and still not pay as high rates for water as we now pay to the Contra Costa Water Company.

4. TIME. It will require from two to three years to construct the works proposed by the Bay Cities Water Company.

THE UNDERGROUND SUPPLY.

This committee is fully convinced that within easy reach of Oakland there is an abundant supply of water of good quality that may be obtained at a moderate cost. From near the town of Decoto to the southern boundary of the county and underneath the alluvial soil are extensive gravel beds at varying depths and all carrying great quantities of water. Land can be purchased at different points, wells bored and pumped from a common center by electric power. The water can be forced into a pipe line and brought to the distributing system already spoken of. In fact a large part of the city's present supply and all of Alameda's supply comes from such wells at Alvarado. We believe that land can be bought sufficient for our purposes, wells bored, pumping plants installed, main pipe lines laid and reservoirs constructed, for $1,500,000. This, added to $2,000,000 for distributing system, makes a total estimated cost of $3,500,000, as against $5,750,000 that must be expended on the Bay Cities proposition. It will, in the opinion of your committee, however, be worth more than the present Contra Costa Water Company's plant.

Some of the reasons in favor of this proposition:

1. The Quantity of Water.—Careful investigation has been made by competent engineers and it is their opinion that a sufficient quantity of water can be obtained from these wells to supply the city of Oakland for a good many years to come. This committee is of the same opinion.

2. The Quality.—The quality of the water is first-class, except that there is enough of lime in the water to make it approach to what is known as hard water, and it is removed from any possible chance of contamination. It is not as good for washing and manufacturing purposes as mountain water, but for all other purposes it is as good. We have had the water from different wells analyzed and find that in all respects, except as to the matter of hardness, it is first-class. The water we now use from the Alvarado wells is of the same character.

3. The Cost.—The most desirable feature of this underground water supply is its cheapness and the fact that it can be made to serve our purposes until such time as the growth of the city and the utilizing of mountain sources of supply will enable us to get at reasonable cost, a still more abundant supply of this prime necessity of life. Any municipally owned water supply makes is necessary for the city to have a distributive system of its own. The expense for this must be incurred even though we should buy the Contra Costa Water Company's plant as a large part of its distributive system will have to be renewed. The committee estimates, but without having had complete engineering figures made, that the cost of the pipe line, pumping plant, reservoirs and wells, will not exceed $1,500,000.

4. Time.—It will require from one to two years to put this system in operation.

LITIGATION.

This committee does not believe, nor does it encourage the hope that it will be possible to formulate any reasonable scheme for a municipally owned water plant that will not be the object of attack in the Court by some corporation or other adverse interest. It does believe, however, that the two propositions herein recommended are as free from dangers of this kind as are any that could be presented, and we are not apprehensive of serious obstacles or delay to the successful consummation of either of the proposed plans. The city must take some risk in this regard or else be forever held up by interests adverse to the welfare of the city.

The committee desires your opinion as to which one of these schemes should be adopted. It intends to make the results of this informal vote a part of its report to the City Council. Express your preference on the enclosed card, as already indicated. Mail the reply within three days from its delivery. On the third day the count of votes will begin.

THE EAST IN GRASP OF STORM.

Hurricane Dashes Against Coast--Icy Cold Claims Lives.

BOSTON, November 14.—New England was the center yesterday of the storm which since Saturday morning has been sweeping up the Atlantic seaboard. When morning dawned yesterday, the immediate storm center was off Cape Hatteras but in the afternoon it had moved to the vicinity of Nantucket Island. When at its height the wind blew with hurricane velocity. In this city the maximum velocity was 45 miles at 5:20 yesterday afternoon. At Block Island, R. I., there was a 76 mile gale and at Nantucket, this State, the velocity of 60 miles was recorded. At Portland at 11 o'clock the wind was increasing in velocity and would, the observer at the local weather bureau said, reach hurricane dimensions. The coast storm is accompanied by snow, rain, hail and sleet.

ONE DEATH IN OHIO.

CLEVELAND, November 14.—The fierce snowstorm that prevailed over Lake Erie and Northern Ohio last night resulted in the death of at least one person and the serious injury of three others in this city, while the property loss is heavy. Captain Dell Minney of Buffalo, lost his life by the founder-

DEENSES AT PORT ARTHUR.

GREAT BATTLE EXPECTED.

Both Russians and Japs Prepare For Struggle.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14., 1 p. m.—The latest indications from the front point to an early resumption of the military operations on a large scale. Field Marshal Oyama has received heavy reinforcements from New Chwang and evidently is about ready to wage battle for the possession of Mukden. The Japanese are showing particular activity on their right flank as if they were contemplating a turning movement from that direction. General Kuropatkin has fortified his positions along the Shakhe river and as he seemingly is prepared to accept battle, he doubtless has made dispositions to block a flanking operation. According to the opinion of the military authorities here his left flank is secure.

MUKDEN, Nov. 14, 2:50 p. m.—Since yesterday signs of a serious engagement taking place within the next few days have been increasing. The Japanese are displaying great activity eastward. Fears are beginning to be expressed that the railroad will not be able to bring up sufficient supplies.

NO NEWS OF PORT ARTHUR.

CHE FOO, Nov. 14, evening—No news was received here to-day regarding the operations at Port Arthur.

SECRETARY HAY IS ILL.

WASHINGTON, November 14.—It is probable that Secretary Hay will act upon the urgent advice of his physicians and not go to Illinois to attend the funeral of his brother, Major Leonard Hay. A telegram received today states that the body of Major Hay is to be placed in a receiving vault for the present. Secretary Hay will attend the interment. The Secretary was not at the Department today.

WOUNDED WIFE REPLIES TO SPOUSE WHO SHOT HER.

Mrs. Campbell, Bride of 22 Years, Says She Never Threatened Husband of Whom She Lives in Terror.

Denying upon what may be her death bed that she ever thought of her husband in any way that would bring harm to the man she married Mrs Laura Campbell directly contradicts the statements made by Jerome Campbell her husband who shot her Saturday night because she refused to return and live with him In a statement made to the police he says that she told him she had a gun s good as his and that he shot her because he thought she might shoot him He also says that he went to the house we e sh was staying with her sister Clinton She denies both of the statements

In giving her version of the story Mrs Campbell who is but 22 years of age says

I got my divorce not my husband because of his inter ference and abuse In a few days I could get my final decree I have never sought to have him come back I know him too well The first time I saw him was on the night of the 4th of September He came to my sisters house Saturday night to return the suit case he had belonging to me But I never asked him for it I was afraid of him He telephoned me to come to the place where he was in West Oakland and when I went there he tried to beat me

To escape him I went to the Receiving Hospital the victim of Campbell s murderous assault s ut at every turn and sound fearful th he may hunt me out where she is I am afraid to be deadly quiet She has been warned that he is locked up but I cannot get to feel safe I would but the spectacle is shattered Her nerves and weakness robbed her of he will This morning D R I Stratton stated that her condition was such that he had hopes for her recovery The danger however lies from blood poison ng and it will be some days before she is free from danger from this

HARD SLEDDING

Maj William R Abercrombie 30th United States infantry is prepared an account of an expe ition which he led into the Copper River country Alaska in 1898 The work was conducted under the direction of he war department and its purpose was to de ermine the existence or non existence of an all-American route to the Youkon With an outfit of 300 Norwegian reindeer with sleds equipment supplies and 113 Lapplanders as drivers and herders Maj Abercrombie started from Seattle April 8 and arrived at Port Valdez July 8 A month later he crossed the great Valdez glacier at an altitude of 5 700 feet and after extraordinary hardships descended into the valley of Copper river

The mental strain at this stage of the journey says Maj Abercrombie was terrific The men and animals were so badly used up that it would have been impossible for them to survive another night on the glacier and our progress through his network of crevasses had been so low that I was afraid we would no t cross the summit in daylight We were up about 3 000 feet and in slush and snow about knee deep Beating off from the fourth bench to the right we managed to get our train on to a series of snow slides and made fairly good time to the foot of the sixth bench

This was he lowest of the glacier, which was 11 000 feet on one mile or a climb of almost forty five degrees We returned to Port Valdez Oct 15 having covered a little more than 800 miles on foot horseback and by raft since Aug 9 demonstrating the existence of an all American route from Prince William sound to the Yukon valley —Chicago News

The official counting of votes cast in the county last Tuesday was commenced this morning by the Board of Supervisors The count will require the entire day and perhaps a portion of tomorrow

So efficient was the collection of returns by the Call Chronicle Examiner Enquirer and TRIBUNE Press Bureau that it is expected that but few changes will be made in the count as it was first announced

FOOTBALL GAMES ON EASTERN FIELDS.

PRINCETON, New Jersey, November 12.—All football eyes are centered on Princeton, where this afternoon Princeton and Yale are scheduled to meet for their annual gridiron battle and the thirtieth football contest between these two institutions.

Football enthusiasts, from the oldest alumni who have watched the progress of every game from the opening contest in 1873 down to the present time, and the younger football crank who is just as ardent a partisan, vie with each other in pronouncing the elevens of this season the most evenly matched of any that have represented the two institutions.

The fact that the football championship of 1904 does not hinge upon today's contest has not lessened the interest and there are thousands of strangers in Princeton.

The Yale eleven came over from New York today. When the representatives of the Blue stepped from the train there was an absence of that favoritism usually shown the injured knee or sprained ankle. All of the men appeared to be in the pink of condition.

There was no wail from the Tiger camp. Each member of the Orange and Black eleven was pronounced to be in fine physical condition and fit to play the game of his life.

Persons who spend their time in trying to figure on early season contests have nothing to work upon except the games between West Point and Yale and Princeton. Yale was beaten by the young warriors by a score of 11 to 6, while Princeton was victorious over the same eleven a few weeks later by the score of 12 to 6. Supporters of Yale claim that their eleven was not so far advanced at such an early date as were the Princeton boys, and that the game cannot be taken as a criterion of what will occur when the two elevens meet today. If the betting indicates anything then Yale has the superior eleven, as she is favorite at odds of 10 to 9, even in this town.

The victories up to the present time stands 17 for Yale and 9 for Princeton with three tie games.

The weather was clear and perfect for good football. The line up:

Final—Yale, 12; Princeton, 0.

PHILADELPHIA, First half—Pennsylvania, 12; Carlisle, 0.

ANNAPOLIS—First half, Navy, 5; University of Virginia, 0.

CHICAGO—First half, Northwestern, 2; Illinois, 0.

NEW YORK, First half, Columbia, 0; Cornell, 0.

In the second half Columbia made a touchdown but failed to kick goal.

Score—Cornell, 6; Columbia, 5.

Columbia made a safety on Metzenthin's kick-off.

Score—Columbia, 7; Cornell, 7.

Columbia carried the ball down the field and Dusell score a touchdown. Metzenthin failed at goal.

OFFICERS AFTER SLAYER OF SHERIFF

CHARLESTON, W. Va., November 12.—Officers still control the situation in Fayette, but have not up to noon reported the capture of Ed Jackson, the slayer of Sheriff Daniels. Governor Whyte today offered a reward of $500 for the capture of George Jackson, his brother. The other two Jackson brothers are in jail here with Policeman Elliott, who slew Constable Jackson. Chief of Police Hundley has also been put in jail here.

HARBOR WORK TO BE DONE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The chief of engineer of the War Department in his annual report, issued to-day, makes the following recommendations for river and harbor improvements in California:

The Harbor at San Francisco—This improvement contemplated the removal of the two Shag rocks and of Arch rock and Blossom rock to a depth of thirty feet below mean low water. The estimated cost for the removal of all four rocks was $731,220. As the rocks have all been removed the project has been completed and no further work is necessary.

Oakland Harbor—Before the improvement of the depth of San Antonio creek from which Oakland harbor was developed, the water was two feet at low tide with a tidal range of about five feet. Oakland harbor now has a channel twenty feet deep at low tide and 400 feet wide to Willow street, thence 300 feet wide to Webster street bridge, thence 17 feet deep to the west end of tidal basin, thence 6 feet deep and 200 feet wide around the north side of the basin to Colton mills. The tidal canal is 98 feet deep to San Leandro bay. On the south side of the tidal canal Alameda channel is now being excavated to a 12-foot depth at low water. The above depths could be carried at low water on June 30, 1904, over the areas above specified. The tidal range is about five feet. Since the improvement was undertaken commerce has increased immensely and is now reported to exceed 3,000,000 tons annually. Congress has thus far appropriated $300,000 for the work. For its completion $81,000 is yet required.

BOY'S DEFENSE IS INSANITY.

HOWARD BUCKLEY WHO SHOT FATHER SAYS HE WAS MAD AT THE TIME.

STOCKTON, November 12.—Insanity is the defense in the case of Howard Buckland, the 15-year-old boy who shot and killed his father last September, some hours after the deceased had quarreled with and choked the boy's mother. Much evidence was adduced showing that the boy's love for his mother was a passion, and that he was erratic and weak-minded. The case continues to attract great attention here, and the courtroom is crowded with spectators daily, many ladies being present.

MORE ANCESTORS FOR EMPEROR.

MONUMENT IS TO BE ERECTED TO MEMORY OF ADMIRAL COLIGNEY.

BERLIN, November 12.—Emperor William is having a statue of Admiral Coligny erected before the palace, as one of his ancestors. Coligny's blood entered the Hohenzollern family through William of Orange, who married in 1583 the Admiral's daughter, Louise, whose granddaughter, Henrietta, married the Great Elector, from whom the Emperor is directly descended. The Emperor has entrusted the execution of the monument to Count von Caetrzschlitz, the sculptor. The design accepted by the Emperor represents Coligny with his admiral's baton, standing on a granite pedestal. The unveiling will take place in November.

A TALK ABOUT HORSES.

PROMINENT TRAINER SPREADS HIMSELF ON A LITTLE CONVERSATION.

There was a gathering of horsemen at a local resort the other day and in the crowd was a prominent trainer of thoroughbreds who spread out some interesting talk on the likes and dislikes of horses. What he said went something in this way:

"One often hears the remark that thoroughbred horses are as capricious as women. I would rather put it that they are as whimsical as children. Their likes and dislikes are formed all of a sudden, like a child's, and as often as not a thoroughbred horse has the same sort of reason behind his whimsical notion that a child has. For example, a sneaky, treacherous man has no more chance to gain the good will of a highly bred horse than he has to gain the confidence of a child.

"There is something in both the horse and the child that tells them that the bad-hearted man is not right. That something, I suppose, is instinct. But horses of high calibre have an even wider range of whims. That is why every good trainer studies the kinks of every horse in his charge.

"About ten years ago I trained a great race horse—one of the greatest of his time—who was as calm as a priest, except in one thing. He couldn't tolerate the sight of a man with a beard. It was pure nervousness, of course, but you cannot tell me that that horse did not get the aversion somewhere. We hear about children being marked with some trait or characteristic. I believe thoroughly that that horse's dam had been abused by some person with a beard and that she transmitted her fear for bearded men to the son.

"Most race horses are devoted to women. Yet I have trained thoroughbreds that had such an innate dislike for women that it was dangerous for a woman to go anywhere near them.

"I have a horse in my string now who is 'dead gone' on the young wife of one of the owners, except when she approaches him with a silken skirt. Then he will not tolerate her.

"The swish of the skirt drives him into a sort of frenzy of nervousness. When she isn't wearing any rustling skirt, he is as gentle with her as a Newfoundland dog with a baby.

"Early environment has nearly as much to do with the formation of a horse's character as of a child's. Southern bred race horses, for instances, are devoted to their black caretakers, and when such horses are sold to men whose stable employes are white men, the horses suffer from lonesomeness for the negroes for a long time, and they never become entirely used to the white hands. On the other hand, race horses bred in New York, Pennsylvania or New Jersey and reared under the guardianship of white men, have an intense aversion for the black man.

"I recall the case of a fine handicap horse that had a sensational record as a 2-year-old and a 3-year-old on the Southern tracks before he changed hands and was taken to New York tracks to show his mettle. His new owner had great expectations of that colt, but the horse raced at least thirty pounds below his true form from the outset.

"From a manger glutton he became a poor feeder as soon as he was brought East, and munched only enough oats to keep himself from starvation. Two or three veterinarians examined the colt and found nothing the matter with him, yet he continued to mope and lose flesh and to go about his work in a hopeless way.

"One day a negro stable hand from another barn wandered into the colt's stall. As soon as the colt saw the black hand he almost ate him up with unrestrained joy. He licked the black man's hands and whinnied and pawed the dirt and danced around like a crazy horse. The owner of the colt happened to be standing by at the time.

"'I know what ails that colt,' he said. 'He was born and brought up with the coons, and he's lonesome for them.'

"The trainer promptly engaged three black stable hands to devote their attention to that horse. He began to eat as soon as he made up his mind that the darkies were around him to stay, picked up in flesh, went at his work like an unleashed hound, and the next time he went to the races he bowled over his field as if they were dachshunds."

M. FISHER NEEDS HELP.

SO HE SENDS FOR ELMER EMERSON, NORMAL SCHOOL PITCHER.

Mike Fisher needs help. He knows that his chances to avoid a post series have gone a-glimmering, but he is like the drowning man and the straw—while his head is above the waves, there's hope.

So Fisher is seeking strength for his cage of Tigers. To this end he has offered Elmer Emerson, a student at the State Normal School at San Jose, and who is a most promising pitcher, to put away his school books and report for duty. Emerson pitched one season for a nine at Vancouver, B. C., and has a good collection of benders. Mike has wired him to limber up for immediate use.

Both Overall and Buchanan have been drafted by the varacious Eastern teams. Next season these two star twirlers will be missed by the local fans who will pay a big price to see the national game played as it should be.

TOM KING WINS THE CUP.

JOHN GRACE CHALLENGE TROPHY IS ANNEXED BY SPEEDY HOUND.

The John Grace challenge cup, the blue ribbon of the coursing game in America, wos won yesterday at Union Park by Tom King, who beat McVey with a score of 16 to 7 in 1½ minutes. This victory give sthe cup to Los Angeles, Tom King being owned by H. Waddington of that city. The first rounds were run Saturday.

Grafton's withdrawal after the first round was a big disappointment to the Montana crowd, whose hopes were all centered on him. He strained a tendon in his first course and was unable to run any more during the day. None of the Montana dogs lasted until the deciding course in any of the events.

Sacramento Boy, winner of the plate, had won the cup for two successive seasons but was unable to win the retaining race. Agile Spurt, owned by Lacy Crawford, won the purse.

Tom King opened a 10 to 1 in the long-odds book and was played off the board. Valley Pride which opened a strong favorite at 6 to 1, was heavily played, lost all chance for the cup by being defeated in the first round by the Montana favorite, Grafton.

Even prices ruled as the field was pretty even. Consequently there were few short-end winners. These were: The cup—The Referee and Grafton at 2 to 1 and Renegade Apache, Kalispel and Pomona at 5 to 3, in the first round. The purse—Doc Burns at 4 to 1, Mickey Free and Rich Array at 2 to 1, in the first round. The plate—In Time and Sacramento Boy at 2 to 1 in the first round; Sir Lipton at 4 to 1 in the second round.

SWIMMING TANK PROMISED.

CALIFORNIA ALUMNUS WILL UNDERTAKE TO RAISE $25,000 FOR PURPOSE.

BERKELEY November 14.—An alumnus has promised $25,000 to the University for a swimming tank. This sum is not at present available, and may never be, but so strong is the faith of the University authorities that they have decided to postpone the erecting of the small tank asked for by the Gymnasium Club. Another reason for this postponement lies in the fact of the expense entailed by the erection of a pumping plant. It was proposed to pump salt water from the bay, but it would cost as much to pump water for a forty-foot tank as to supply a large reservoir. For this reason the authorities are led to believe that should a tank be erected in Hearst Hall, or should the town authorities be persuaded to erect a large salt water reservoir for fire protection in the hills back of the University, the pumping could be done by one plant co-operatively and the individual expense materially lessened.

The proposed tank will be of glass, lit underneath by electric lights, which will make beautiful effects in the water and furnish a protection against accidents.

FAILS TO BREAK RECORD.

EDDIE HOLDEN DOES NOT LOWER TIME BETWEEN OAKLAND AND SAN JOSE.

Eddie Holden of the California Cycling Club made an attempt to break the record between Oakland and San Jose yesterday. If he had had the proper pace he would, in all probability, have succeeded. He had only one tandem for pace and the team was not strong enough for him. Holden covered the forty-two miles in an hour and fifty-one minutes, which was a little more than seven minutes over the record time held by Roy Emery of the Oakland Wheelmen. Holden will make another try next Sunday. George Center, F. Bell, J. Bell, M. Ringrose, all of the California Cycling Club, had a pleasant run to Centerville yesterday. About ten members of the Pacific Motor Cycle Club also made the trip. The roads were in good condition and the riders experienced no difficulty.

Outspoken Sympathy.

The St. Petersburg newspaper relief fund for the sufferers of the Hull trawlers' fleet amounts now to $6, contributed by two persons. This seems to be one of the most characteristic incidents of the war, looked at from its different sides.—Boston Transcript.

MAY LOSE HIS FOOT.

PRENTISS GRAY DANGEROUSLY ILL FROM PLAYING IN FOOTBALL GAME.

As the result of being allowed to play in the California-Stanford game Saturday, Prentiss Gray, California's left guard, is now in danger of having his right foot amputated on account of blood poisoning. Two days before the game it was known that Gray had blood poisoning, but he was permitted to play Saturday until he had to be removed from the grounds on account of his condition. Blame for Gray's condition is being put up to Coach Hopper and Trainer Christie.

Dr. Rainehardt severely censured the coach and trainer in speaking of his patient this evening.

"Gray undoubtedly showed great grit in going into the game," said Dr. Rainehardt. "In the terrible condition that he was in; but it was a most unwarranted piece of foolhardiness on the part of the trainers to allow him to enter the gridiron in that state. I cannot understand how either the coach or the trainers could allow him to attempt it.

"Two weeks before the game he broke two ribs, although it is claimed that one of these ribs was broken in the game. Besides this injury, which should have barred him from playing, he cut his right foot in practice three days before the game. The foot became infected and at the time he played was badly swollen and inflamed.

"Just how this will result I cannot say; blood poisoning often results in the loss of the infected member, but I am doing all in my power to save the limb."

THE ASSOCIATION GAMES.

RESULTS OF THE FOOTBALL CONTESTS HELD ABOUT BAY, YESTERDAY.

The biggest crowd of the season at Freeman's Park was on hand yesterday to witness the contest between the Rovers and Independents.

The Independents turned out their full league team but the Rovers were handicapped by the absence of Anderson and Shand. Shand sustained a severe injury to his knee last week and will be unable to play for some time.

The game opened at a lively clip and first blood fell to the "Ladies," "P. Fay scoring after fifteen minutes' play. This success seemed to encourage the team and the pace became faster than ever. A second goal was registered by the "Ingles" shortly before half-time, and though the Rovers appealed on the ground of offside the point was allowed to stand.

The second half opened with a brilliant piece of combination work by the Athions forward quintette and only the hardest of luck prevented them from making a score. The Independents seemed to have shot their bolt and the play was mostly confined to their territory.

Shortly before the termination of the game a regretable accident befell Todd, the sturdy right-back of the Rovers. In tackling one of the opposing forwards he received a severe kick on the leg, breaking the limb between the knee and the ankle.

Just before the finish McArthur made a brilliant single handed run the entire length of the field and finished with a shot that gave the goal keeper no chance. This was the last point though the Rovers tried all they knew to draw level.

Best men for the independents were: Delmayne, Duncanson and the three Fay brothers and for the Rovers: Bradley, McArthur, Todd and Johns.

J. Frem refereed the game and J. Smith and Dan Jamison officiated as linesmen.

VAMPIRES DEFEAT EAGLES.

At the Webster-street grounds the Vampires won from the young "Alameda Eagles" by the score of 3 goals to 1.

OCCIDENTALS WIN.

After an exciting game at Ninth and Bryant streets, San Francisco, the Occidentals came out victors with the score 5 to 0.

Although the score seems to indicate a one-sided game, still it was nevertheless a very stubbornly contested one, the Pickwicks are a lively lot of fellows and kept their opponents ever on the alert.

THE OLD VERSUS THE NEW.

EDDIE SMITH WRITES ABOUT THE MUSTY BOXER AND THE LATTER-DAY ARTIST.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

When sporting men gather together the conversation often drifts to the old time fights and fighters, and you frequently hear the remark:

"If John L. Sullivan was in his prime or Jack Dempsey was at his best today, they would beat anybody in the business."

The chances are that if both of these were as good as they were in their youth both would have to learn the up-to-date style that the boxer of the present uses and not the old stand-and-fight fashion.

Probably the hardest fight John L. ever had was when he and Jake Kilrane contested under London prize ring rules in an open field. The fight was a fierce one and sprinkled with knockdowns and rallies.

I will venture to say that were either John L. or Kilrane at his best today, Champion Jeffries could in twenty rounds administer a beating to him that he would never forget.

The style of fighting used by Sullivan was to rush at his man and beat him to the turf. He depended only upon his strength and endurance.

The last of the pugilists using this style of fighting passed from the arena with the retirement of Kid Lavigne, who, in his day, had no equal.

The first man to start the up-to-date style of using lefts and right cross counter was Jack Dempsey. He was very successful in his art, but I doubt if he was ever as clever as Joe Gans or the vicious Jimmy Britt.

The training is also different and the fighters get stronger and faster in the latter day methods. The pugilist of old ring history generally cut his hair off close to the scalp and got nothing to eat but steak and toast for a diet previous to entering the squared circle. There was so much sameness to his bill of fare that the old time fighter became so stomach sick that he could not eat nearly as much as a man should under the conditions of training.

The first thing in the morning the trainer called the fighter and had him put on as heavy a pair of shoes as could be purchased. The idea was that this would make the fighter lively on his feet when he was placed in a light pair of ring shoes. With these heavy shoes weighing him down the pugilist was started out on the road, and after doing many miles, he returned to face a cold shower and a rub-down. This bit of treatment as given the old-time fighter would make the present hit and duck men yell for help.

The trainer never kneeded the muscles of the old-time fighter, as a man whose form was not as hard as iron was not considered to be in even fair condition. The old-time fighter usually stood on a chair to receive his rub-down; to ask him to recline on a plank as is now the proper thing would have been to offer him an insult.

In the afternoon the fighter of "ye olden days" had plenty of indoor work to do and by the time he was ready for his entrance into the ring he was as slow as an ox, but as hard as an anvil.

It is not so very long ago that Jim Corbett created a sensation in pugilistic society by announcing that he would drink milk and eat ice cream while training for his mill with Bob Fitzsimmons, so that he would have something in his system to work, instead of draining his strength. Now every fighter who does not have too much weight to take off does the same thing.

The old-time fighter needed no introduction as a pugilist. He was known to everyone as soon as he hove in sight. But today a large majority of the boxers dress and look like college students, and it is the aim of most of them to be as gentlemanly as is possible. Everything considered, the up-to-date is far above the earlier fighter socially and morally.

TODAY'S CARD IS LIGHT ONE.

WHOA BILL BEST STARTER—BOOKMAKERS ARE HEAVY LOOSERS.

In this afternoon's card at the local track, Whoa Bill in the first race looks like the best performer. He finished second to Telephone Saturday and his race was really a clever one.

In the second race for maiden two-year-old fillies there are some six starting for the first time. It's a good race to let alone.

Albula ought to annex the big end of the purse in the third event. The field opposed to him has a faint look. The mile and seventy yard race has an open look. Figure your dope. Pelham didn't show up good Saturday. An improvement of form is due today.

"Who do you like in the fifth race?" This was the question heard in grandstand, paddock and betting ring Saturday.

"Jennings' stable." And this was the answer given by the majority.

Out on the California Jockey Clubhouse lawn it was different, however. There the favored ones selected Captain Forsee to annex the rich stake in the opening handicap.

The grandstand and paddock played on form and the clubhouse lawn frequenters played on "inside information." The dopesters won out.

Jennings' stable opened at 2 to 1 and there was a great rush for the bookies' stalls. Soon the form players' coin backed the odds down to 6 to 5 and that is the way the chalk marks remained until the horses went to the post.

Captain Forsee was first offered at 8 and even by some at 10, but was soon shoved down to 6 by the coin from the clubhouse.

Gold Money, daughter of Gold Crest, won at the end after remaining hidden away in the field until nearly three-quarters of the ground had been covered. She was cleverly ridden by Jockey Dominick and only had to do battle with Ananias at the end. Captain Force was well up in the back stretch, but was all in at the three-quarter pole. So the public won well in the victory of the Jennings' stable and the favored ones in the clubhouse had cause to investigate the "information."

PITCHER OVERALL.

Pitcher "Ovie" Overall of the Tacoma team, formerly of the University of California nine, yesterday broke all pitching records on this Coast when he fanned out fifteen commuters in nine innings of play at the game in the raisin town. The big college man pitched a wonderful game and there was a crowd of 2,000 of his home people present to see him perform. Overall has been drafted by the Cincinnati national team.

Wally Brinkworth pulled down a good bit of coin on the win of Silverskin in the second race. The animal has done some bad performing on the Chicago track and knowing ones said stay off. Silverskin was backed by the grandstand and heavily so by Brinkworth. Silverskin got a good start and won easily. Brinkworth was not so lucky with his Major Mansir in the last race, returning a portion of his winnings to the boxes.

There were thirteen regular bookmakers doing business Saturday and there were thirteen starters in the opening handicap. Still the public had no cause for regret. When the day was done it was estimated that the outofferers had lost anywhere from $2000 to $4000. Things started badly for the bookies. Kipponax in the first race was heavily backed. He won and so started the grandstand off with coin ahead. And in the second race the public liked Silverskin and the play soon reduced the price from 4 to 8 to 5. Then in the third race Telephone answered and connected the public with more coin. The men in the boxes got some of it back in the fourth race, the public choosing Montana Peeress and Hindoo Princess, while The Fretter won at 6 to 1. The fifth race set the chalk men back again. There was a good killing made in Andrew B. Cook in the sixth race. He opened at 15 to 1 but was soon backed down to 7 to 1. The layers of odds got a little back when Fille d'Or won the event, but in all the day was bad for them.

Horses that raced in the North the past summer had plenty of prominence Saturday. Out of the seven races four were captured by the jungle inmates. A course of study in Seattle and Portland dope will now be in order.

Dominick was the Hildebrand of the track. He made his appearance after an absence of four years and celebrated it by two wins, one being on Gold Money. Sheehan also did good riding Saturday, especially noticeable was his handling of The Fretter. F. Hildebrand, brother of the famous Hildebrand, had a mount in the first race. He was astride of Gil Blas at 40 to 1 and finished next to last.

That was a poor race W. Daly rode on Letola, the favorite in the sixth race. He got her away poorly and then rushed her up too fast and had to get back again. Then at the finish, he made a weak ride.

Not a Sick Day Since.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass of Fremont, N. C., writes. TIGER PRESIDENT TALKS.

DAVE EVANS SAYS THAT TACOMA'S TEAM NEEDS LOOKING AFTER.

FRESNO, November 14.—Dave Evans, president of the Tacoma Club, has arrived here. He is just a little bit worried over the way the Tigers are acting, and is present to lend every effort to steady the team. Mike Fisher has a headache and has become a bromo fiend, so it's up to somebody to guide the cage of Tigers.

"When the Tigers left the North," said Mr. Evans today, "they were a good hundred points in the lead and seemed to have a cinch on the pennant for the second half of the season, too. Then came that disastrous series at San Francisco with Oakland. Somehow our club has always had poor luck in San Francisco. The last time the boys were there playing with Oakland they lost five games out of six. We thought there was something the matter with the field, perhaps, and looked for better things elsewhere. The games here this week have been merely a repetition of those in San Francisco. Now that I am here I find that the team is in bad shape and has been from the time it hit California. Casey was out of the game for days, then Egan broke his arm, and now Keefe is on the bench with a sore arm, passing the pitching all up to three men, who will do well to keep up under such a strain. More than that, there has been sickness among the men that has no doubt contributed to the number of defeats so far suffered. All of them seem to have fallen off in their batting since coming from the North.

"Taken the season through, Tacoma has good cause to feel proud of her team. The boys have played splendid ball and have composed a happy family all season, there being absolutely no friction among them and less fault-finding and bickering than in any team in the league. Had they not met with many mishaps they would have been far in the lead of all the other clubs, and the post season series would not have been necessary. As it looks now, I am afraid there will have to be such a series."

"How about the reports that Tacoma didn't support the club through the summer?" was asked.

"Well, Tacoma is not as large a town as Seattle or Portland and has not so many people to draw its crowds from. But, everything considered, I think the attendance in our town was better in proportion that it was in either of the other Northern cities. Moreover, we are finishing the season considerably to the good. We expect to lose money during the series here, but even then the club will have made money on the season."

On Saturday the "Young Phoenix" of St. Mary's College added another victory to their long list by defeating the Pensacolas of Goat Island on the latter's grounds. The latter team will play the Pensacolas a return game next Wednesday afternoon on the college diamond.

A return game next Sunday afternoon will be played at the college with the Fort Baker team who were defeated by the Young Phoenix 2 to 0.

AUTOISTS WANT SIGNS ERECTED

ORDINANCE WILL BE EXPLAINED IN THE HIGHWAYS OVER HILLS.

That automobilists are caused considerable annoyance while traversing the Tunnel Road and other highways over the hills was reported at the regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning by Supervisor Talcott, who recommended that signs be erected along the roadways explaining the law.

"According to the ordinance passed by us," said Supervisor Talcott, automobilists are compelled to always take the outside of the road. This is not generally understood by drivers of buggies and wagons who wonder why the autoists do not take the right hand side as usual. The placing of explanatory signs would often do away with unpleasant friction."

The matter was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

All the cardinals living in Rome, numbering twenty-five, gathered in the hall of the consistory at the vatican half an hour before the ceremony, taking their places in three groups—cardinals, bishops, cardinal priests and cardinal deacons—making one of those imposing pictures only to be seen at the apostolic palace.

KNIVES FOLLOW WINE.

ITALIAN AND SLAVONIAN COLINIES INDULGE IN DANGEROUS PLAY.

War, red wine and butcher knives.

There you have the causes of a whole lot of trouble in a blood-letting matinee in the local Slavonian colony yesterday afternoon.

And the war, red wine and butcher knives caused a whole lot more trouble in an evening performance in the local Italian colony last night.

When it was all over the police entered.

At the afternoon show the star performer made his exit and has yet to be located by the authorities.

In the evening exhibition no Italian would admit being the star and there you are. The police, however, gathered in Marchiso Anarceto, also billed as Joe Marchiso, took him to the City Prison and booked him on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. If the evidence proves good, the Italian with the alphabetical name will do a continuous turn in some stronghold.

At the Slavonian blood-spilling matinee, Frank Nobli was the villain with the keen-edged knife, so the police assert. The accused cannot be interviewed. Immediately after doing his turn he disappeared into Alameda, so detectives claim, and he can't be found. Nicholas Sustanonocitch, however, alleges that he was cut by F. Nobli in the neck with a knife. Whisky, he says, was one reason for the attack.

The Slavonian carries evidence of having been in a knifing warfare or having hurriedly passed through a sausage machine. By his appearance he shows that he has been subjected to some flesh stripping process and he claims that Nobli was the doctor.

It is said that 1661 Pacific street was the scene of the Slavonian slaughter. The hostilities began when one of those among those present remarked that the seat of war was getting to be rather ragged. This is said to have started a discussion pro and con, conversation growing torrid as the topic was argued and words assisted by applications of red wine and whisky.

Finally, in illustrating with a butcher knife just how and where a Japanese should be carved, Nobli, it is said, sliced Sustanonovitch on the neck, at the same time remarking that the Japs were going to get something similar in the same spot.

Sustanonovitch resented serving as an illustration of the proper way to dissect a Japanese and offered resistance. Nobli is alleged to have gently attempted to show him—with the knife—that he was in error. Others interfered and then the blood-letting began. Dr. Kane was called in to repair the wounded.

Meanwhile the police are searching for a trace of Nobli.

The Italian attraction took place at 1216 Cypress street. War, red wine and butcher knives were present here, too. There were the adherents of the Czar and those of the Mikado and, of course, a clash of the two contending parties resulted.

It is alleged that Marchelso Anarceto, alias Jo Marchiso, was illustrating sword-play with a knife and Cornio Ignizio happened to be in his way. Ignizio's carelessness proved unfortunate for his head. He appeared before Prosecuting Attorney Leach this morning with his dome done in white bandages and he was compelled to wear his hat in his hand. Anarceto or Marchiso claims that the knife was shut and he cut his friend with his knuckle. Some doubt his story, however.

And then when Aramosino Cavarino, brother-in-law of Marchiso Anarceto or Joe Marchiso, went to the aid of his belligerent relative he was hindered by Joe Gatta, who was hanging onto his nose with his teeth.

In the puzzle of humanity that followed Giovanni Cevasco had a finger or two sliced.

The real damage was done to Gatta's nose. Apparently Aramosino Cavarino must have imagined he had a piece of gum between his teeth. Anyway, Gatta has an appendage that to-day looks like a bit of beefsteak.

Care will be taken to arraign the accused Italian and Slavonians in court on different days.

UNIVERSITY GIRL ENGAGED.

BERKELEY, November 14.—An engagement of particular interest in college circles on account of the prominence of the families of the young people, is that of Miss Florence Mary Senger, the daughter of Professor and Mrs. Henry Senger, and Dudley V. Saeltzer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph M. Saeltzer of Redding.

Miss Senger is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority and is highly accomplished. After graduating from the Berkeley high school in 1900 she remained out a year, entering the University of California with the class of 1905, of which Mr. Saeltzer was a member. With Professor and Mrs. Senger and her sister, Miss Alice Senger, she went to Europe and spent a year in Dresden in studying music and languages.

During his freshman year in college Mr. Saeltzer was captain of his football team. He is now a member of the firm of McCormick and Saeltzer Company, a large mercantile concern of which his father is the head. The young couple will be wedded in the spring and will make their home in Redding.

COTTON OPERATORS SEEM TO HAVE BEST OF STRIKE.

FALL RIVER, Mass., November 14.—An attempt today by the manufacturers to open the cotton mills in this city, which have been closed for nearly four months by the strike of the operatives against a 12½ per cent reduction in wages, resulted in failure. The machinery was started in all the mills controlled by the manufacturers' association promptly at 6:30 this morning and it is understood that it will be kept in operation for two or three days, after which, unless the strikers return to work in large numbers, it will be stopped again. No disorder of any kind occurred.

Tom Watson on the Future.

Thomas E. Watson late Presidential candidate of the People's party, is out in a long statement giving reasons for the result of the recent election and defining his political attitude for the future. As Mr. Watson only received about half million votes in the entire Union running behind the Socialist ticket his personal attitude will not be generally taken as a matter of profound interest. His attitude toward the Democratic party is significant, however, as he is essentially a Democrat of the ultra school. He calls himself a Jeffersonian, but Jefferson was the apostle of individualism. Watson is a collectivist of an archaic type but tending strongly toward Socialism. In many respects he is at war with Jefferson's conception of the theory of government and the relation it should bear to the citizen singly and in the mass. In short, the Georgia politician is a sort of half horse and half alligator Democrat.

Watson sees no hope in the Democratic party as an organization, which he claims contains two irreconcilable elements yoked together but perpetually pulling apart. He therefore desires to organize another party that will be truly Democratic. This is an old story. It carries one back to Jackson's day when the old Democratic-Republican split in twain, one faction turning to Whiggism with its policy of protection to American industry, internal improvements and a National bank, and the other to modern Democracy free trade, territorial expansion and pro-slavery. The Whig party died because it would not fight slavery and persisted in fighting expansion, and the Republican party rose on its ruins, taking in the anti-slavery element and absorbing the free soilers of the Democratic party.

Watson only dimly perceives the causes for the present situation because he has never grasped the significance of the political events which transpired between 1824 and 1872. He is conscious, however, of the political futility of the South under existing conditions. The South is being broken on its own wheel. It is not a moral or constructive force in the Nation because of a solidarity largely based on prejudice and still more largely founded on a total misconception of the attitude of the Republican party toward the white people of the former slave States. To remain solid the South sacrifices convictions to chimeras bred of a sentiment of a purely mortuary character. It is helpless, inert and politically unprogressive because it refuses to divide on the real issues of the day or to depart from a political custom which renders it merely a tail to the kite of a discredited faction in the North. So long as it holds this position it can neither name a President nor have one of its sons placed in the Presidential chair.

For all that, the result of the recent election was due to causes which the Democratic leaders only imperfectly comprehend. President Roosevelt's wonderful popularity is even now only dimly appreciated by his opponents. The Democratic party has lost the confidence of the masses and the country has grown tired of the Southern situation but when full credit is given to these factors a personal equation still remains that is as striking as it is phenomenal. The President showed that he was easily stronger by at least half a million votes than his party. His personality was approved with even greater emphasis than his policy was endorsed. This was because his personality was assailed and made an issue. And the assault involved and brought into prominence the peculiar political status of the South. One of the striking features of the election is that the South refused to stand solidly by its own issue, the issue on which its solidarity is based. Watson says he would be glad to see the Solid South broken up, yet he preached the doctrine in the campaign that has kept the South solid His hand was raised against the negro in the South and wealth in the North. He divides the country into two classes, the poor and the rich, and proposes to organize a party to fight plutocracy. The Georgian is a man of intelligence who has no power of discrimination. He is worse a good deal than Bryan, and will never become the force the Nebraskan became in politics. Watson stands midway between Bryan and Debs, occupying a position that is untenable because illogical and contradictory.

Bryan and Parker have both been talking since the election, but Grover Cleveland has said never a word. The ex-President realizes that there are times when silence is eloquent. The present is one of them, so far as Democrats are concerned.

Socialism or What.

The convention of the American Federation of Labor, now assembled in San Francisco, is of peculiar interest for a variety of reasons. For one thing it will test the strength of the Socialistic element which has been conducting a ceaseless and insidious propaganda for years. It is the aim of the Socialist leaders to weld the labor unions into a compact political engine and to divorce them entirely from the existing social and political order. The first step in this direction is the complete severance on the part of members of the unions of all affiliations with political parties or organizations in harmony with the structure of society and government. The effort to merge trades-unionism into political socialism is opposed by such men as Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell, hence the Socialists are bent on retiring them from their present leadership. The fight will be on during the present convention. Gompers has been charged with being a Socialist, but he is not. He is a strong advocate of certain features of State socialism, particularly public ownership of public utilities, but he is decidedly opposed to reorganizing society on the Socialistic basis. John Mitchell is even more conservative in this respect than Gompers. While he is laboring to improve the condition of the wage-earning class and to secure for manual labor a larger share of the joint product of labor and capital, he has no thought of disturbing the existing social structure. He is opposed to making the Labor Federation a political party, and is resolutely set against accepting the leadership of the dilletante Socialists who have lately become prominent in fiction writing. The struggle between the conservatives led by Gompers and Mitchell and the radicals of the Debs ilk promises to be a momentous one.

The Japanese are having forced on them the truth of the old adage that armies fight on their bellies. Their soldiers are doing well in the field, but the government has had to screw up the taxes again to keep them supplied with food and munitions. Military glory must be paid for in sweat as well as blood.

An Absurd Charge.

The San Francisco Call is rather absurd in saying the people of Alameda County were animated by a prejudice against seeing the American flag on a ship when they voted against exempting shipping from taxation. The amendment was strongly disapproved in this community because no convincing reason was given for its adoption. As a general thing, special exemptions of property from taxation are bad in policy because unjust in their application. The revival of the American merchant marine does not depend upon exempting shipping from local taxation in California, and there exists a strongly grounded conviction that the proposed amendment was conceived and framed solely for the benefit of half a dozen rich corporations plying craft in these waters. A better way to encourage shipping is to decrease port charges and increase port facilities. There is no more reason for exempting the scow that takes the grain to market than there is for exempting the wagon that hauls it to the landing. The burdens of supporting the government should be shared by all alike.

A PRINTED PILGRIMAGE.

By Alice Crary in Good Housekeeping.

My feet in loose-knit sandals may be dressed,
Close toasted at the hearthstone of my home;
While restless tourists wander forth and roam,
I find the prize they have not yet possessed.
Here is real progress. Over foreign sea
My thoughts can roam, and visions may be mine,
While yet, by prowesss of an art divine,
My home contentment grows more clear to me.

A woman is so selfish that she isn't even willing to let other people share the pleasure she derives from abusing her husband.

A PRETTY CANNIBAL.

Mme. Arachne spent the summer in the garden. She has spent many summers there, and no doubt it was she who introduced the excellent fashion of passing one's holiday in a tent on the lawn. Mme. Arachne pitched hers at the extreme end of the garden, which slopes down to a little brook. She was a most entertaining companion for leisure hours.

Mme. Arachne wears a black gown, strapped with gold, and a little gray hood. She is the most skillful spinner in all the land and she knows geometry by heart, though she never opened a book in her life. Well does she understand the saying, "The early bird catches the worm," for no matter what time you arise Mme. Arachne is up before you, with her house tidied for the day.

"Oh, dear! oh, dear!" she cried one morning. "What a lot I have to do before breakfast! The strong wind that blew all night has wrought sad havoc with my snare. Even the long guy ropes that support it are torn away." Mme. Arachne threw out a tiny silken cord from her spinnerets, and the wind blew it over to a stalk of goldenrod, where it stuck fast, for it had a bit of spider glue on the end. Mme Arachne pulled it, and, finding it taut, she ran across with another thread. Before long she had spun a wheel with the spokes joined in the center, and now she began to fill in the space between with a silken spiral, fastening it every time she came to a spoke with a speck of glue. Last of all, she spun a dainty white silk ladder leading downward from the centre of the wheel.

By this time the sun was quite high, and all the little insects had awakened and were on a search for their breakfasts. Suddenly Mme. Arachne, hanging head downwards on the hub of her wheel, felt it tremble. "Oh, how joyful!" cried she under her breath, "my favorite breakfast!" and she hastened toward a green grasshopper that was struggling on the edge of her snare. Using the hindmost pair of her eight legs she drew from the spinnrers a wide band of silk. With her front legs she rolled the poor grasshopper over and over, at the same time binding him so tightly in his silken winding sheet that he could move neither wing, leg nor feeler. She put a drop of poison into him, in case he should try to get away, then backing towards her dining room, which was a cosey silken tunnel on some fern fronds, she drew the little mummy after her. Scarcely had she taken a good drink of grasshopper juice when she felt a slight tug on the rope that led up to the dining room.

"What a nuisance!" she exclaimed. "It's that tiresome young man come a-courting, just as I have sat down to breakfast, and an hour late, too. I'll teach him a lesson." She paid not the slightest attention to her suitor, who continued to knock at the door; that is, he gave the silken rope a humble little tug every now and then. Not meeting with any response he grew bolder, and at last ran up to the dining room door. Madame, hidden in the darkest corner, watched him with all her eight eyes. On he came, a step at a time, peering all about to see what could have become of his lady love. He learned all in a second. With a headlong rush she was upon him, and before you could say "Gee whillikins!" the young gallant was being wound in his burial robes. "He will make a nice luncheon," remarked Madame, as she swung him up on the side of her web and fastened him with a dab of spider glue.

Back she ran to her late breakfast, and this time she finished it in peace. When there was nothing left but the grasshopper's outside shell, his legs and his wings, she deftly jerked him free from her web and dropped him to the ground among the remains of other feasts. In this rubbish heap were the remains of more than a dozen grasshoppers, the body of a fat bumblebee, the wings of a white butterfly and a gray moth, a poor little tree cricket with his green fiddle beside him, and, horror of horrors, the relics of no less than seven spiders! Mme. Arachne, it appeared, was no better than a South Sea Island cannibal of the hungriest type.

"You see," she explained to the owner of the garden, "those spiders were all suitors for my hand at one time or another, and I didn't happen to be in the marrying mood when they called, so I just pulled out some silk and wrapped each one up. They furnished me a good many delicious luncheons," and she smacked her lips in remembrance of their different flavors.

"See!" she said, pointing to a lovely little web on her right, "one of my daughters has come to live close beside me. Shouldn't you think she'd be afraid?"

"Indeed I should," replied the owner of the garden, and resolved to whisper in the daughter's ear, "Beware your mother's appetite."

AN ARMY OF WOODCHUCKS.

Situated in a somewhat picturesque section of Penn Yan is a wooded gulch to which some romantic sage of the town has applied the appropriate name of Italy Hollow. Perchance the name was suggested by a small band of laborers that has established a settlement there. Be that as it may, Italy Hollow is coming into prominence just now through the efforts of innumerable woodchucks that are scampering over the bean fields and through hill and dale in a manner that has caused the "oldest inhabitant" to impart the intelligence that the appearance of the woodchucks in such great numbers carries the significance that the approaching winter is to be one of great severity.

The woodchucks are cutting up all kinds of capers and resorting to unheard of didoes in the region of Italy Hollow, occasioning much damage to the growing crops and causing the old settlers to shake their head with many an ominous sigh, while they raise their voices to caution the unsuspecting villagers to lay by their spare change and prepare for what they say is "sure to come." They mean of course, the severe winter.

The report on the woodchuck army says further: "These mischievous rodents are not content to satisfy the pangs of hunger, but it is said that they are gnawing everything in reach. Even the rails of 'worm' fences are not exempt, and one sidehill farmer declares that the rails in his fence have been chewed so that they are falling out of place causing the fence to tumble down. Many of the inhabitants of the Hollow attribute this state of affairs to the periodic appearance of these animals. Red squirrels are also quite plentiful, and the chattering chipmunk is colonizing in stone walls and stone piles."

Luther M. Dey, he who issues weather forecasts from the Government Building, has heard of the superstition that is worrying the Penn Yankees, and he had a hearty laugh out of the information. "Woodchucks a sign of a severe winter?" he laughed. "That's all bosh. When animals get hungry they are bound to try and find something to eat. And if the people of Italy Hollow have not the vegetables and other proper provisions for the woodchucks, why shouldn't they chew up the fences? They have got to eat to keep alive, and they can get their board out of 'worm' fences just as well as they could out of a lumber yard."

ENDOWMENT FOR STAGE.

Miss May Irwin authorized the announcement that she has provided in her will for the establishment of a $100,000 fund for the building and maintenance of a national theater in this city. In this connection Miss Irwin said in Boston a few days ago:

"What I have has come to me through the courtesy and kindness of the American people for my efforts to amuse them. It is therefore a pleasure to me to provide for what has seemed to be something that the American people most dearly desire, a national theater. It may take some time for this fund to accumulate to the proper proportions, but the seemingly small Franklin Fund which has done so much good toward the education of the children of Boston was only $1,000 when it was founded."

Miss Irwin is probably the wealthiest actress in the world. Her holdings in New York real estate alone are worth $1,000,000.

The will itself has been deposited in Miss Irwin's vault at the Fifth Avenue Bank.

The will provides that the fund be managed by a commission of five trustees, the chairman of which is to be appointed for life by the President of the United States at the time of Miss Irwin's death. The trustees, who are to be appointed for life, will be named by the Governor, the United States Senators of New York State, and the Mayor of New York City. The fund is to be invested in United States government bonds paying the highest interest until the investment amounts to $5,000,000.

The extract further provides that the edifice shall be built within the city of New York and named "The American Theater of Dramatic Art."

A provision is also made that the public shall not be charged more than $1 for a single admission.

THE "WHIRLWIND" CAMPAIGNER.

The whirlwind orator has come, the fiercest of the year;
In mile a minute verbiage his speeches strike the ear;
Above the whistle of the train we hear his rolling tones
Beseeching us to vote for Smith and not to vote for Jones.
And ere his talk is half way through, and while we are intent
Upon his words, the train pulls out and stops the argument.

Upon the platform of the rear throughout the day he stands
And stabs the ambient atmosphere with energetic hands.
His speech begins at Hickeyville and strings along the route—
The workers in the fields look up and see him stand and shout,
While on through Piketon, Elmertown, and Bugneyburg he speeds
Delivering in sections talk on what the country needs.

A whirlwind he—he sweeps the land by north and south and west
And east by nor', and nor' nor' east, and swirls through all the rest;
A talk cyclone, a hurricane, sirocco, and simoon
All whirled in one to warn the land of impending doom;
And down the track from Stillyvale on into burg and 'ville
In fragmentary eloquence his speeches break and spill.

Before one crowd has seen him leave, and started with its cheers,
He's miles away haranguing in some other people's ears—
He fades into the vista as the train goes dwindling on,
The rear coach growing smaller by degrees until it's gone;
The last we see is through the dust his ever ready arm
Outstretched to point with honest pride or tremble with alarm.

AN OBJECT LESSON

In a Restaurant.

A physican puts the query: Have you ever noticed in any large restaurant at lunch or dinner time the large number of hearty, vigorous old men at the tables: men whose ages run from sixty to eighty years; many of them bald and all perhaps gray, but none of them feeble or senile?

Perhaps the spectacle is so common as to have escaped your observation or comment, but nevertheless it is an object lesson which means something.

If you will notice what these hearty old fellows are eating, you will observe that they are not munching bran crackers nor gingerly picking their way through a menu card of new fangled health foods; on the contrary they seem to prefer a juicy roast of beef, a properly turned loin of mutton, and even the deadly broiled lobster is not altogether ignored.

The point of all this is that a vigorous old age depends upon good digestion and plenty of wholesome food and not upon dieting and an endeavor to live upon bran crackers.

There is a certain class of food cranks who seem to believe that meat, coffee and many other good things are rank poisons, but these cadaverous, sickly looking individuals are a walking condemnation of their own theories.

The matter in a nutshell is that if the stomach secretes the natural digestive juices in sufficient quantity, any wholesome food will be promptly digested; if the stomach does not do so, and certain foods cause distress, one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal will remove all difficulty, because they supply just what every weak stomach lacks, pepsin, hydro-chloric acid, diastase and nux.

Stuart's Dyspepsia tablets do not act upon the bowels, and in fact are not strictly a medicine, as they act almost entirely upon the food eaten, digesting it thoroughly and thus giving the stomach a much needed rest and an appetite for the next meal.

Of people who travel, nine out of ten use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, knowing them to be perfectly safe to use at any time and also having found out by experience that they are a safeguard against indigestion in any form, and eating as they have to, at all hours for years have pinned their faith to Stuart's Tablets.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents for full-sized packages and any druggist from Maine to California, if his opinion were asked, will say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the most popular and successful remedy for any stomach trouble.

COMPERS WILL SPEAK.

UNION MEN TAKE DEEP INTEREST IN COMING CONVENTION.

Saturday evening the committee appointed by the Central Trades Council to make preparations for the mass meeting met for the last time. The subcommittee on printing reported that the necessary typographical work had been completed and the posters properly distributed; the music committee reported the engagement of four bands, McBain's, Merrick's, Lercher's and Scott's. Both committees were then dissolved.

The great mass meeting comes tomorrow evening at Germania Hall. Many of the delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention in San Francisco will be present. The following officers of the Federation will address the assembly: President Samuel Gompers, Secretary Frank Morrison, Treasurer John B. Lennon. Each of the eight vice-presidents will also speak. The first vice-president is James Duncan; second, John Mitchell; third, James O'Connell; fourth, Max Morris; fifth, Thos. L. Kidd; sixth, D. A. Hayes; seventh, D. J. Keefe; eighth, W. J. Spencer.

Preparations have made to seat 1500 people, and 3000 can be accommodated if necessary. It is expected that a large percentage of the union men of Oakland and the surrounding cities will attend as well as many of the other citizens. The speeches are sure to be interesting and will probably shed much light on some of the labor problems of today. The general public is cordially invited to be present.

EDMUND BAKER DIES.

WELL KNOWN CLUBMAN PASSES AWAY AT OGDEN, UTAH.

Edmund Baker, a well-known clubman of this city, died Friday in a hospital at Ogden, Utah, from persistent anaemia, resulting from heart trouble.

Mr. Baker, accompanied by his wife, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kittredge of San Francisco, started East a short time ago. He became seriously ill on the journey and when the train reached Ogden he was taken off and placed in a sanitorium. Dr. Joyce, a local physician, advised Mrs. Baker to expect the worst. Dr. Tanny of Oakland was sent for, and also the parents of Mrs. Baker. They arrived in Ogden yesterday, only to learn of the death of Baker. Dr. Tanny left during the day to return to Oakland, but Mr. and Mrs. Kittredge remained to take care of their widowed daughter. Mrs. Baker's condition is causing considerable alarm. A dispatch from Ogden last night states that she is hysterical and unable to sleep without opiates. The body of the deceased has been embalmed and will be sent East this morning to Newark, N. J., for burial.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker were married early last year at the home of his wife's parents, on California street, the occasion being an event in society.

POLICEMAN SILL ACCUSED OF WRONG DOING.

POLICEMAN JOSEPH SILL.

Police Scandal Grows Larger and One More Man May Have to Give Up Star.

Charges of wrong-doing have now been made against Policeman Joseph Sill and he must answer the accusations before the Police Commissioners.

Another new feature was brought to light today, it being the fact that Chief of Police Hodgkins had the residence of Charles Hamerton searched for stolen property without any being discovered.

Complaint of wrong-doing has been made against Policeman Sill by two men with whom he has had trouble in the past, and for that reason the charges are taken with a grain of allowance, it is explained by the authorities. The charges against Sill have been passed up to the Police Commissioners and there was to have been a meeting this morning to consider them. Owing to the fact that President McElroy had to be present in the Superior Court, the hearing was postponed to a date not announced.

In defending himself of the charges made against him, Policeman Sill has this to say:

"The charges are made against me by men who have been my enemies for years, and have openly and repeatedly stated that they would 'break' me and I suppose they think this is a good time to try it. While it is unpleasant to go before the Commissioners, I have no fear as to the result and am ready to meet my accusers before the Commissioners or in any court. I have done nothing that could be twisted into a violation of the law or the police rules and it can not be shown that I have. The only unpleasant features about the thing are the notoriety and the worry which it naturally causes my family."

NO SEARCH WARRANT.

Without the formality of a search warrant, the residence of Policeman Charles Hamerton was searched several days by a certain member of the police department in the hope of finding something that would prove as evidence against the accused officer. This fact just came to light today.

When asked about the matter, Chief of Police Hodgkins said that nothing had been discovered which could be used against the accused.

The search was made during Hamerton's absence, but while his wife was present. No resistence was made to the entry of the officer.

"Yes, my house was searched," said Hamerton today. I was not home at the time, but I would have made no objection whether the officer was armed with a search warrant or not. I am not guilty of the charges and have nothing to fear. I intend to remain here in Oakland and defend myself against the accusations made against me. I have nothing to fear for I have wronged no one. I visited the office of Chief of Police Hodgkins and informed him that I was not going to flee from the city and told him that whenever he had any warrant to serve on me or desired my presence to let me know and I would appear. Charges like these ruin a man, but when he knows that he is guiltless it is his duty to remain and face the accusations, knowing that right will come out on top. No man can honestly charge me with any wrong-doing.

"Just let me give you an example. About a year ago I went to Chief of Police Hodgkins and informed him that men whom I had placed under arrest had been robbed after being taken into custody. For my own self I asked for an investigation. Does that look like I was guilty of wrong-doing I know to my own knowledge that certain other officers on the force made the same complaint about the matter. Prisoners of theirs had been robbed after being arrested. They complained to the Chief and asked for an investigation. Does that look like all the rottenness had been eradicated?"

According to the information thus far gathered, no less than seventeen business houses have suffered through the acts of the dismissed policemen. Information as to the stores entered has been given by the business men themselves while further evidence has been gathered by Sergeant of Police Lynch and Policeman Shannon and Goodwin. The complete list of stores so far is as follows:

Miss O'Neil plays an extended engagement this season in New York before leaving for her United States tour. McKee Rankin is acting as the stage manager, and Mr. Stallard will have the next position.

Mr. Stallard has been at his present work for the past fourteen weeks. Besides the work of stage managership he has also taken several minor parts. Before his local engagement he was stage manager at the Alcazar Theater in San Francisco, where he worked first with Charles Bryant, who is at present at Belasco's Theater in New York.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN WOMAN

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Fannie Ward Randall, widow of the late Samuel J. Randall, for years the Democratic leader in the House of Representatives, is dead at her home at Chestnut Hill, a suburb. She was a daughter of General Baron Ward of Ossining, New York, who was a member of Congress from 1827 to 1843. Mrs. Randall was well known in official circles in Washington during her husband's long career as the Representative of the Third Congressional District but since his death she has been living quietly at Chestnut Hill.

SNOW FALLS UP NORTH.

PORTLAND, Ore., November 14.—A fall of two inches of snow followed by rain last night crippled telegraph and telephone service throughout the State. Communication by wire east and north of the city was cut off entirely at midnight last night. Both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies continued communication with Boston, but soon after 12 o'clock this morning were unable to reach other points in the State. The same was true of the New England Telephone Company.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Patton Noble, whose husband was found dead at midnight last night at his home in Long Island City, was yesterday arraigned on a charge of homicide and was ordered committed without bail.

The charge is based on the investigation made by Policeman Deboe who says he heard Mrs. Noble say that she shot her husband after he had struck her. She denies making such a statement. Noble was clerk in the Fifth street Police Court, where the woman was today arraigned.

BERKELEY SUBURBAN NEWS UNIVERSITY

CAUGHT HUNTING ON COLLEGE GROUNDS.

SAN FRANCISCAN IS FINED TEN DOLLARS BY JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—That a young man cannot come over from San Francisco and recklessly discharge firearms on the University of California campus was shown in Justice of the Peace Robert Edgar's court when Richard Hurley was fined $10 for shooting in the college grounds Sunday. Hurley paid the fine promptly.

The case of the People vs. Carl Olsen came up this morning, the defendant being charged with having violated a town ordinance by conducting an express business without a license. Upon motion of Town Attorney Brewton A. Hayne, Judge Edgar dismissed the case on the ground that it had been shown that the offense was a single act and not a regular business.

FORUM DEBATES SENATE QUESTION

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—An interesting practice debate was held before the Berkeley High School Forum during the week on the question, "Resolved, That the Senate Should be Elected by Popular Vote." The affirmative side, Lumbard and Monson, who were opposed by Chapman and Ord, were awarded the decision by the judges, Homer Beedie, Clare Crassfield and Sam Batdorf.

The speakers showed promise of becoming good debaters, their argument being clean-cut and their delivery excellent. They will be candidates for the Oakland-Berkeley team next spring. The debate was criticised by Doremus Scudder of last year's class.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT DURING THE HOLIDAYS.

BERKELEY, November 14.—The Y. M. C. A. is preparing its annual booklet of situations for University students. It contains quite an exhaustive list of clerical jobs in most of the bi stores which have a rush during the holidays in Oakland and San Francisco.

The book will be given or mailed to any student making application to the secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

HOLD A PICNIC WITHIN DOORS

BERKELEY, Nov. 14—The Sabbath School of the Park Congregational Church gave an indoor picnic at Lorin Hall, last week. After an hour of games and races, prizes were distributed. Baskets were then opened, and luncheon enjoyed. The success of the affair was largely due to the efforts of Miss Ronaldson, Chairman of Committee, and to Superintendent Leo Rogers.

BOTANISTS TO TAKE FOUR DAYS' TRIP

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—The class in botany 4 of the University will make a four days' field trip to the Point Reyes peninsula on November 20th, to study the forests of the place. Most of the class are planning to go and a very pleasant as well as instructive trip is expected.

UNIVERSITY IS EXPECTING A LARGE GIFT.

Twenty-five Thousand Dollar Swimming Tank May Be Constructed.

BERKELEY, November 14.—An alumnus has promised $25,000 to the University for a swimming tank. This sum is not at present available, but so strong is the faith of the University authorities that they have decided to postpone the erecting of the small tank asked for by the Gymnasium club. Another reason for this postponement lies in the fact of the expense entailed by the erection of a pumping plant.

It was proposed to pump salt water from the bay, but it would cost as much to pump water for a 40-foot tank as to supply a large reservoir. For this reason the authorities are led to believe that should a tank be erected in Hearst Hall, or could the town authorities be persuaded to erect a large salt water reservoir for fire protection in the hills back of the University, the pumping could be done by one plant co-operatively and the individual expense materially lessened.

The proposed tank will be of glass, lit underneath by electric lights, which will make beautiful effects in the water and furnish a protection against accidents.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

"The hand that rocks the cradle"—but there is no such a hand;
It is bad to rock the baby, they would have us understand;
So the cradle's but a relic of the former foolish days
When the mothers reared their children in unscientific ways,
When they jounced them and they bounced them, those poor dwarfs of long ago—
The Washingtons and Jeffersons and Adamses, you know.

They warn us that the baby will possess a muddled brain
If we dandle him or rock him; we must carefully refrain;
He must lie in one position, never swayed and never swung,
Or his chance to grow to greatness will be blasted while he's young;
Ah, to think how they were ruined by their mothers long ago—
The Franklins and the Putnams and the Hamiltons, you know.

We must feed the baby only by the schedule that is made,
And the food that he is given must be measured out and weighed;
He may bellow to inform us that he isn't satisfied,
But he couldn't grow to greatness if his wants were all supplied.
Think how foolish nursing stunted those poor weaklings long ago—
The Shakespeares and the Luthers and the Bonapartes, you know.

We are given a great mission, we are here, today, on earth
To bring forth a race of giants and to guard them from their birth,
To insist upon their freedom from the rocking that was bad
For our parents and their parents, scrambling all the brains they had!
Ah, had they been fed by schedule would they have been stunted so—
The Websters and the Lincolns and the Grants and Lees, you know?

CLASSES CONDUCT ENTHUSIASTIC REUNIONS.

GRADUATES HOLD FESTIVALS BEFORE THE BIG INTERCOLLEGIATE GAME.

BERKELEY, November 14.—California's alumni met in reunion banquets Friday evening in San Francisco, making the restaurant quarters of the city resound with football songs and yells. Eight classes in all gathered at the various meeting places, making the most successful reunion ever held.

The class of 1900, which met at the California hotel, numbered 50 and included many of the University's most prominent and influential graduates. Many guests of honor were present, including Professor Bacon and John Bouse, '91. President Wheeler, who visited many of the reunions, was also present. Dr. Jordan of Stanford dropped in during the couse of the evening and was asked to speak. After the dinner had been served speeches were made by many of those present, including Ezra Decoto, Fred G. Dorety, Victor Henderson and Rea Hanna.

The class of '99 met at Tortoni's at the same time, making the air ring with their joyous songs. President Wheeler spoke at the meeting. The class of '02 met at the Odeon, on O'Farrell street, Bob Ritchie officiating as toastmaster, where a German supper was enjoyed.

The class of '04 numbering 45, gathered at Floyd's. Al Rosentine, class secretary, acted as leader, making the banquet an event to be remembered. The '03 class, including many football veterans, held an enthusiastic reunion. Other classes which met were '97, '96, and '95. What these meetings lacked in numbers they made up in enthusiasm.

After the banquets of the individual classes, all adjourned to the University of California club rooms, on Geary street, where a grand blue and gold celebration took place.

OFFERS A REWARD.

UNIVERSITY BOYS GUARD THEIR EMBLEM.

Nightly Watch is Held Beside a Big Fire on Charter Hill.

BERKELEY, November 14.—Fearful that the great yolden "C" that was constructed on Charter Hill, the night before the intercollegiate game may be stolen by emissaries of Stanford, squads of University of California students night guard the emblem. Fires are lighted about the "C" and there the collegians sit throughout the night. The watch is divided into three parts which are taken alternately by men from various fraternity houses.

"We have learned," said yell leader Lewis E. Burkeley, "that a number of Stanford fellows intend to swoop down on Charter Hill some night and steal the "C". The emblem proved a big surprise to Stanford and caused her no little chagrin" especially as the Cardinals had attempted to put an "S" on the same spot where the "C" stands.

REPUBLICAN CLUB IN THE FOURTH WARD.

VOTERS WILL MEET TOMORROW NIGHT FOR PURPOSE OF ORGANIZATION.

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—A meeting will be held to-morrow evening in the Ashby firehouse for the purpose of organizing a Fourth Ward Republican Club. All the Republicans of the ward are invited to be on hand in order to make the meeting thoroughly representative.

The extraordinary growth of Berkeley renders it necessary that steps be taken to have the best possible government and the best possible officials, and the only way that these can be obtained is by getting the voters to take an interest in public affairs.

CAPTAIN KILLS HIMSELF.

BOSTON, November 14 —Frank S. Israel, commander of the United Fruit Company's steamer Admiral Dewey, which reached port yesterday from Jamaican ports, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart on board his vessel Thursday when in the vicinity of the Bahamas. The only cause assigned for the act is temporary mental aberration. Chief Officer James D. Clark assumed command of the ship and brought her into port.

IT WAS THE LATE MARKIS.

Mrs. Porkdollars has not as yet got over the novelty of riches. At the same time she is not inclined to admit this and it is her great desire that the society with which she is now entitled to mix by virtue of her husband's wealth shall think she was born in the purple.

Recently she was at a big dinner party, and as she was being piloted from drawing room to dining room she noticed a marble bust on one of the pillars in the hall.

"Do you know who that is?" she inquired of her cavalier.

"That is Marcus Aurelius," was the answer.

"Oh, is it, now?" ejaculated the lady. "But can you tell me," she added promptly, "whether it is the present markis or the late markis? I do get so mixed up with your dukes and things!"—London Answers.

GREATER ALUMNI ASSOCIATION PROPOSED.

ALL GRADUATES WILL BE PLACED ON AN EQUAL FOOTING.

BERKELEY, Nov. 14.—The council of the Associated Alumni held its annual meeting in Hopkins' Institute last week. The reports of the different officers showed a very prosperous condition of the association.

Dr. L. Van Orden, the presiding officer for the past year, declined renomination, and Dr. J. G. Morissey of the medical alumni was elected president. Other officers were elected as follows: First vice-president, Edward Booth; second vice-president, Mrs. A. F. Morrison; secretary, Miss Anna McNeil; treasurer, Dr. H. M. Simmons.

A discussion of the proposed new constitution of the "greater" Alumni Association about to be established developed so much difference of opinion that it was decided to submit it to the Alumni Association of the Affiliated Colleges and secure an opinion from the professional graduates before taking final action.

The "greater" Alumni Association proposes to break down the lines now existing and include graduates of all departments on an equal footing.

A Havre fisherman's wife drying codfish caught by her husband on the coast of France noticed that one fish had a hard substance inside. On investigation she found in the fish a golden bracelet. How the ornament came into its strange receptacle is, of course, not known; but it is conjectured that it must have slipped from the wrist of some fair passenger leaning over the bulwarks of a transatlantic liner, and been seized by the cod on reaching the water. As the shoals of codfish have only recently left the Newfoundland Banks, and are just beginning to make their appearance in French waters, it is probable that the bracelet has traversed the Atlantic in the fish's interior. Perhaps its owner will come forward to claim it!

DROPS DEAD ON STAIRS.

ALAMEDA WOMAN DIES WHILE IN THE ACT OF CALLING DAUGHTER.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Annie Serena Christensen an aged lady and a pioneer resident of this city, met sudden death at an early hour yesterday morning when she fell down a flight of stairs at her home on High street near Encinal avenue. She is believed to have dropped dead from heart disease and then rolled to the bottom of the stairs.

Mrs. Christensen had been accustomed to arise early to call her daughter, Mrs. Carrie Lapham, who is employed as a ticket agent at one of the stations on the South Shore local line. Yesterday morning she got up at 4 o'clock in the morning, it is thought to awaken her daughter, when she was taken with the fatal illness which resulted in death before aid could be rendered her. Mrs. Lapham was aroused by the noise of her mother's fall, and upon investigating was shocked to find her lying at the bottom of the stairs. Dr. J. A. Riley was hastily summoned, but the unfortunate lady was beyond aid, and had probably expired before Mrs. Lapham reached her side.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Riley performed an autopsy, which showed that death was due to fatty degeneration of the heart. An inquest is to be held by Coroner H. B. Mehrmann at the local branch morgue at 7 o'clock to-morrow evening.

Mrs. Christensen was a native of Norway, aged 84 years. She was one of the best known carveday residents of this city, especially in the East End, where she had resided in the home where death suddenly overtook her for over forty years. DEATH FINALLY WON THE RACE

CHICAGO, November 14.—After having won a race with death from Carlsbad, Bohemia, to Chicago, George T. Smith, capitalist, is dead at his residence. Accompanied by his wife he had gone to the foreign health resort hoping to combat successfully a disease which had baffled the physicians of this country.

Several months were spent at Carlsbad by Mr. and Mrs. Smith before his advisors warned him that there was no hope of his recovery. He determined at once to risk the homeward voyage in the hope he would again see his father and his brother and sister at Chicago.

Two weeks ago Mr. Smith left Carlsbad. In Paris his strength gave out and he was obliged to stop and rest.

The sea voyage left Mr. Smith still more weakened and a further stop for recuperation was found necessary in New York.

Mr. Smith appeared to improve as soon as he reached home, but soon his condition changed for the worse. Bright's disease with complications caused death.

Mr. Smith was a large operator on the Chicago Board of Trade and a director in a number of local corporations.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

A sermon written by a Newark pastor while awaiting an important operation in a hospital showed so much self-control, so much judgment and discretion that it has been made public. It was read to the congregation of which he was the pastor. The subject was, "Is Life Worth the Living?" and it taught the lessons of resignation, philosophy and faith in a highly effective manner.

A HANGING MATTER.

We hang a man for murder
He has a hang-dog look;
We hang a door, a picture, too,
We hang around the cook.
A gun hangs fire, indeed, at times;
The robin hangs its wings,
We hang our banners on the wall,
The coward hangs back from things.
We hang a coat upon a chair—
That's queer, you must admit—
Across the sea the Japs hang on;
They've got the hang of it.
A hang-nail, sure, may bother one,
And hangers-on you knew;
Your sweetheart hangs upon your words
While hanging on to you.
The sky is often hung with clouds,
The bore hangs on a joke,
A mule hangs out despite the lash
That hangs upon a stroke.
The moon hangs low within the sky,
But prices still hang high;
We let the trusts together hang—
I'm hanged if I see why.

STORM IS KING IN THE EAST.

THE WIRES ARE DOWN AND COMMUNICATION IS CUT OFF.

NEW YORK, November 14 —Communication with the West after having been cut off for many hours by Sunday's storm, was re-established soon after 3 o'clock this morning by the Associated Press. This was accomplished through a telephone wire between Baltimore and Chicago. Morse telegraph instruments displaced the telephonic devices and a restricted service was at once begun.

It developed that Washington had been in almost constant communication with the West during the night and news sent by the Associated Press from its New York Office to Boston, thence by way of Portland, Me., the Canadian telegraph lines to Chicago and the West was relayed back to points east of Chicago as far as Washington.

The wire service between Baltimore and Washington was still completely out of service at 5 o'clock this morning, poles and wires having been carried down in many places by the great weight of wet snow and the intense force exerted by the furious gale.

New England telegraphic circuits and those to Philadelphia and Baltimore were the only ones in working order.

The damage to the wires is the most serious which the telegraph companies have faced in many years. It spread over a wide area and caused a great rush to get out repair gangs who were hurriedly started in the night by special trains over all the railroad lines north, west and south. Little could be accomplished, however, until daylight.

The wires were found to be down completely, north, west and east of Albany and north of Poughkeepsie on the New York Central. There was but one wire working on this route and that extended to Poughkeepsie. On the Erie line over which many circuits to Chicago are operated, one hundred poles were knocked down near Port Jervis, N. Y. No wires were left south of Baltimore, nor south of Philadelphia and Harrisburg. Much trouble also exists south of Washington where the storm first appeared. In the latter city several inches of snow fell. The storm began at 11 o'clock a. m. with a drizzling rain which soon turned into heavy, wet snow.

Owing to the width of the storm's path, much delay to railway traffic is anticipated as the telegraph largely controls the movements of trains.

NEW MOVEMENT IS LAUNCHED.

UNION STREET PRESBYTERIANS ORGANIZE A "KINGDOM" CAMPAIGN.

A new forward movement was launched yesterday at the Union Street Presbyterian Church. Its object is to reach the estimates for membership and finance made at the beginning of the year by the various church societies. Each organization needs new members and additional finances if the goal is to be gained by the close of the year, and the Kingdom Campaign for the next seven weeks is a grand rally of all the forces for final victory.

The friends of the church are to be organized on the military plan into a Volunteer Brigade. Volunteers are to serve until January 1, 1905, when the brigade disbands at a watch meeting. The church organizations are designated as regiments and companies, and every recruit or soldier enlisted in one or more departments is a member of the brigade and will receive a little flag or button as a token of enlistment. The effort is to secure 1001 members, the same to be enrolled in the 1905 directory of "One Thousand and One Friends of Union Street Church."

The financial needs are to be provided for in a general free will offering on Sunday, December 25th. Christmas boxes are to be supplied for all members of the brigade who care to take them. The ladies of the church constitute a calling committee, and every family that considers Union Street its church home or that has been identified with the church life in any way, will receive a call and enlistment blanks. The blanks comprise a concise statement of the objects and needs of each society with columns for "individual estimates" of what each volunteer is willing to do himself and enlist others to do.

While the volunteers are to be mustered out on December 31st, the results of the campaign will extend far into the future, as enrollment as a member of any society is not temporary but continues after the brigade disbands.

CHRONIC SORES

Wheeling, W. Va., May 28, 1903.

Some years ago while at work, I fell over a truck and severely injured both of my shins. My blood became poisoned as a result, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were healed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to entirely cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctors intimated, nor have the sores ever broke out again. Some 12 years have elapsed since what I have described occurred. Having been so signally benefitted by its use I can heartily recommend it as the one great blood purifier.

JOHN W. FUNDIS.

Care Schmulbach Brewing Co.

Chronic sores start often from a pimple, scratch, bruise or boil, and while salves, washes and powders are beneficial, the unhealthy matter in the blood must be driven out or the sore will continue to eat and spread. S. S. S. reaches these old sores through the blood, removes all impurities and poisons, builds up the entire system and strengthens the circulation. S. S. S. is a blood purifier and tonic combined. Contains no mineral whatever but is guaranteed purely vegetable. If you have an old sore write us and our physicians will advise without charge. Book on diseases of the Blood free.

FIRST SOCIAL A LARGE SUCCESS

It was a jolly lot that taxed the seating capacity of Enterprise Hall last Friday evening when the Taft and Pennoyer Employes Mutual Aid Association gave its first social session. Long before the time set for the opening of the program every seat was taken and the reception committee was kept busy finding standing room for the many friends who were anxious to see and hear what the first social session would be.

The committee of arrangements worked early and late for several weeks, arranging the program, and it is to be congratulated on its success. The committee was assisted by the members generally and were helped materially by the Novelty Theater management, who gave them three excellent numbers which were much appreciated.

J. D. Gilmore, the president of the association, gave a brief outline of the organization, its objects and prospects, and extended a welcome on behalf of the members to those present. A. A. Pennoyer and Charles Kydd on behalf of the firm, made a few remarks commendatory of the undertaking of their employes in thus endeavoring to promote a friendly and social feeling and at the same time making provision for the time when they may be sick. The musical and literary portion of the program was as follows: Piano solo, Professor Pierce; contralto solo, Mrs. Weir, soprano solo, Miss M. B. Smith, fancy dance and song, little Hazel Isaac, baritone solo, Lee Gilbert accompanied by Joseph McVey, monologue selections Joseph Dolan and George P. Clark, bass solo Frank Figone, recitation, Miss Josie Butler, and through the kindness of the Novelty Theater vocal selections by Walter Kerrick and Rawl and Kaufman.

The committee of arrangements for this affair was J. J. Nicholson, J. J. Rigney, George W. De Bell, Miss Martha Harrington, Miss Hattie Sampson and Miss Edith McDonald.

RUSSIAN SPIRIT IS NOT BENT.

Czar to Send Crack Regiments to the Front.

LONDON, November 14.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at St. Petersburg asserts that the Emperor has decided to send out the second division of infantry of the Guards as soon as the troops already called out shall have been despatched to Manchuria. The Guards usually are only sent to the front when there is a monarchy or a Grand Duke in command. The despatch of these troops, the correspondent adds, shows the determination of the Emperor to struggle to the bitter end.

DOUBLE TRACKS TO WAR SCENE

ST. PETERSBURG, November 14, 6 55 a. m.—The official announcement that the Emperor has approved the plan for double tracking the Siberian railroad, and that $5,000,000 has been assigned for the beginning of the project, is greeted with the heartiest approval by the press of this city. The hope is expressed that the work will be begun immediately and pushed to a rapid conclusion as one of the surest means of ending the war.

THE FARMER OF 1904.

In the days done gone when the drought was on and the chintzbugs chintzed in the grain, when we jest raised crops fur the thing that hops an' the cyclone dusted the plain, then our reglar fare was but prairy air as we followed the shinin' plow, an' our Sunday clothes would alarm the crows, but you bet it's different now.

Oh! a farmer's life is the life for me;
I'm the winnin' card in the deck;
In these rattlin' days o' prosperity
I am in it up to the neck!
My sufferin' teeth I no longer gnash,
I'm a king o' the rural rank,
With nuthin' to do but count the cash
An' carry it to the bank.

Our good ol' wives in their hard luck days were togged in but tattered rags; the waists on their backs made o' flour sacks an' the skirts was of gunny bags. Now the gowns they wear on their figgers beat the mark o' the tailor's hand, an' their jewels gleam like a fairy dream, an' they're stylish to beat the band!

Oh! a layhawk life is the life fur me;
I'm the swiftest hoss on the track!
I ust to be howlin' ca-am-i-tee
But my howler's knocked out o' whack.
On the knocker's bugle I ust to blow,
A regular Populist crank,
But it's diff'rent now since I've got the dough
In the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank.

When the crop's all sold an' I've got the gold we are off on a furrin tover an' we make the trip on a high toned ship that kin swim forty miles an hour, an' the togs we wears make the natives stare—oh! they rubberneck at our clothes, an' the cash! we blow till you'd think by jo we was playin' it through a hose!

Oh! a farmer's life is the life fur me;
I'm a king of the layhawk blood;
I'm a wallerin' in pros-per-i-tee,
The happies' hog in the mud.
In society's doin's I cut a dash,
I've a hefty lod in my flank,
An' I've got a haymow full o' cash
In the Farmers' and Drovers Bank.

DODGE COPLIN'S LETTER.

WELL KNOWN ARCHITECT TELLS INTERESTING NEWS OF BOSTON.

A. Dodge Coplin, a well-known Oakland architect, who is touring the East, writes the following letter:

BOSTON, Nov. 7, 1904.

Editor TRIBUNE:

Through our own United States and into the great historic center of Boston we find the American spirit paramount and ever rising.

With probably justifiable pride Boston struts to the front of our marching and progressive American cities, and pronounces herself the hub of all things. Certainly much has started here and the general attitude of conditions impresses us that a rather good-sized pedestal undergirds the place. We are compelled to observe the difference between hurry and dispatch. This codfish city of one and a half million or so is somewhat experienced in things municipal, and with its wealth and culture settled down to take life more deliberately than is the case in other places.

Thousands of people are out on the streets, cars, etc., vast amounts of business affairs are being transacted, and yet all with such dispatch as not to impress the stranger with any great jam or rush.

Here we don't see a picket fence or telegraph poles down to every avenue or dirty streets. Boston with her subways, surface traction cars and elevated lines is prepared and ready for business.

It would do well for Oakland to charter a car, parole our city officials for six months and let them tour the country and glean from the best and most attractive American cities the best and most attractive municipal manners.

The rigor of New England winter is in the air and people must soon stay inside and live like pot plants, instead of emigrating westward to California sunshine. If our New England cousins really knew the virtues of the Sunset State, nothing would keep them away.

Many points of interest dear to the American people are close to Boston. The old stone church from which the "Boston Tea Party" started on still stands. Dozens of historic points marked by the blood of the Revolution are now marked by fitting emblems or monuments. We passed over Charlestown Neck and looked out over Boston Harbor and realized that there rusting at anchor once moved the British warships bearing the mandate of King George to the American Colonies. However, we want to forget it all and look at the misunderstanding with the mother country like all other mistakes of life, to be passed up to our credit account of wisdom.

Throughout the East the question of Canadian annexation seems to be discussed and agitated more or less. This is much favored by Andrew Carnegie and the same gentleman openly subscribes to a published interview wherein he sets forth lengthy and good reasons for a union of not only Canada and the United States but of all Anglo-Saxondum.

Harvard University is near by and has an immense concrete stadium, fashioned somewhat along the lines of the ancient Roman Coliseum.

Of more than passing interest is the Massachusetts State House, a portion of which dates back to the time of early Colonial trouble. In this building are closeted behind plate glass, many blood-disfigured banners of the Stars and Stripes carried to victory through '76.

The political situation throughout the East seems quiet and the last thing we heard was that Roosevelt had started home to Oyster Bay to vote with his mind fully prepared to uphold the Roosevelt administration.

Doesn't Respect Old Age.

It's shameful when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Fever, Constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. 25c at Osgood Bros., druggists, Seventh and Broadway and Twelfth and Washington.

MIRACLE PLAY TO BE GIVEN

On Wednesday next, the miracle play "The Star of Bethlehem" will be presented at the University of California by Ben Greet's players for the first time on the Pacific Coast.

The play, which has been successfully given in Chickering Hall Boston, and at Bryn Mawr College, was made by Professor C. M. Gayley, of the University, by amalgamating a number of English miracle plays of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, each too brief and too devoid of incident or independent presentation before a modern audience. The result is a four-act drama that requires about an hour and a half for performance. It has far more variety than the title and general subject suggests, the episode of the detection of the sheep-thief Mak, the earliest English farce, having been utilized from the Towneley miracle plays, and a number of early songs, notably "Summer is Icumen In," the first English lyric of which we have the music, having been introduced. These with the quaint stage settings and rich costumes, made especially for the production, add decidedly to the interest.

If the weather is favorable the performance will be given in the Greek Theatre at 8 o'clock in the evening. Should it threaten to be rainy or too cold to make an outdoor performance in the evening enjoyable, it will be given in the Harmon Gymnasium, where "Everyman" was so successfully given last year, at 3 in the afternoon and at 8 in the evening. Tickets, good for any performance, are now on sale at one dollar each at the Co operative Store and Sadler's, Berkeley, and Smith Brothers, Oakland.

There will be a few reserved seats, for which no extra charge is made.

MISS FASSETT'S WORK EFFECTIVE

Miss Estella Fassett, whose work among the people of the First Methodist Episcopal Church is becoming effective, will conduct meetings in that church tonight and Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week.

Last evening a large number enjoyed the special evangelistic services at 6:15 and 7 30 o'clock. The earnestness of Miss Fassett is meeting with a like response.

This evening and Wednesday evening there will be solos by Miss M. Carlotta Stockdill and on Tuesday evening J. M. Robinson will sing.

Plenty of sunshine, excellent table service. Arlington Hotel, Ninth and Washington.

THE HUB

SYNDICATE IS GETTING RID OF REALTY.

Oakland Concern Transfers to Piedmont Association Eleven Pieces of Property for Merely a Nominal Consideration.

Certificate Holders Who Want Security and Not Hot Air Are Anxious to Know Why These Transfers Are Being Made.

(San Francisco Examiner, November 13, 1904.)

Has the Oakland Realty Syndicate begun to transfer its assets in a way to put them out of reach of investment certificate holders?

The Syndicate points to a list of assets which, it says, assure "protection" for the $4,000,000 borrowed on these ten-year unsecured promissory notes which they call investment certificates.

The trouble with these assets is that they can be transferred at five minutes' notice to a third person or corporation, and the investment certificate holders would have no sort of lien on the transferred property.

On November 5 the Syndicate transferred to the Piedmont Building Association eleven pieces of property at Piedmont, stating a nominal consideration of $10 in each case. The Piedmont Building Association is a corporation organized by the employes of the Realty Syndicate, and these employes are the directors.

IT LOOKS SUSPICIOUS.

Transferring property from the Syndicate to this concern is like taking money out of one pocket and putting it in another with this material difference, that the creditors of the Realty Syndicate have no claim or lien on the property transferred to the subsidiary corporation, unless that concern has given a trust deed back to the syndicate. On its face the transfer of these pieces of property is sufficient to put the certificate holders on inquiry as to what is being done with the alleged assets of the Syndicate.

Some further correspondence has taken place between Attorney F. W. Sawyer and the Realty Syndicate. Mr. Sawyer wrote in the first instance demanding on beauf of his clients that the Syndicate give security for the money borrowed on investment certificates. To that the secretary of the corporation replied as follows:

EVADES THE QUESTION.

The Realty Syndicate, 14 Sansome street, San Francisco, November 7, 1904.—F. W. Sawyer, room 315 Call building, San Francisco—Dear Sir: Your letter dated November 4, but received at the postoffice Saturday evening, November 5 at 6:30 was received by us this (Monday) morning, November 7. Said letter was not signed by you, but as it bears your initials and was written upon your letterhead, we presume that it is genuine.

If you or your client will call at our office there should be no difficulty in convincing either of you of the financial strength of this company, as all honest inquirers have always been satisfied. Very truly yours,

SAMUEL J. TAYLOR,
Secretary.

To that letter Mr. Sawyer has sent the following reply:

SECURITY AGAIN DEMANDED.

San Francisco, Cal., November 12, 1904.—The Realty Syndicate—Messrs.: Sarcasm is not in keeping with the dignity of the business of so great and varied interests as is yours, nor with so just and reasonable a demand as is mine.

I demanded security for my clients, not "hot air."

If, as you say in your letter, "There should be no difficulty in convincing"—me or my clients—"of the financial strength" of your company, why, then, should there be any difficulty in providing security for the payment of your ten-year certificates?

If you mean solvency by "financial strength" then you can easily meet this request.

In answering, kindly keep to the question: Are you going to furnish security for the payment of these unsecured promissory notes?

Security must be forthcoming or repayment will be enforced.

Trusting that you understand me, I am, respectfully, F. W. SAWYER, Call Building, San Francisco.

PEOPLE TO WHOM TRANSFERS WERE MADE

NEW HOLDERS ARE CLOSELY CONNECTED WITH THE REALTY SYNDICATE.

OAKLAND, November 12.—Five deeds of property from the Realty Syndicate to the Piedmont Building Association were placed on record November 5, 1904. They are numbered 72,851, 72,852, 72,853, 72,854 and 72,855 series K, of the records or deeds of Alameda county, and are as follows:

No. 72,851, dated April 9, 1904, conveys to the Piedmont Building Association lots 28 and 27, map of Piedmont tract.

No. 72,852, dated March 2, 1904, conveys to the Piedmont Building Association lot 3, block H; lot 16, block J; lot 15, block D, and a portion of lot 14, block D, map of Central Piedmont tract.

No. 72,853 conveys to same portion of lot 22 and all of lot 23, block C, Thermal Hill tract.

No. 72,854, dated March 1, 1904, conveys to same lot 8, block E, and lot 24, block K, map of Central Piedmont tract.

No. 72,855, dated September 8, 1904, conveys lot 15, block A, and part of lot 16, block A, map No. 1 of Highland Terrace.

In each case the deeds are signed by either E. A. Heron, president, or F. C. Havens, vice-president, and by Samuel J. Taylor, secretary of the Realty Syndicate. In each case the consideration is given as $10.

The Piedmont Building Association was incorporated December 17, 1903, the articles being filed with the County Clerk December 22, 1903. The five directors are Otis Engs, Wickham Havens, George Sterling, H. M. Maxwell and Harold Havens, all of whom are closely connected with the Realty Syndicate. In fact, much of the property of the Realty Syndicate is held in the name of Engs, Maxwell or Sterling. These directors have each subscribed to $500 worth of the capital stock of $50,000.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

MANY DELEGATES WILL BE IN ATTENDANCE AT CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH.

There is every indication of a large delegation tomorrow, in attendance upon the Alameda County Sunday School Convention, to be held in Calvary Baptist Church. Many will come early to hear Rev. Dr. Boardman, the new pastor of the Tenth Avenue Baptist Church at 10 o'clock. In the afternoon a large number of pastors and lay workers will discuss the live topic "Christian Nurture," Rev. Dr. White of San Francisco presiding. Rev. Chas. T. Walkley will also speak.

The main convention address will be given in the evening by President Eli McClish of College Park, upon "The Passing of the Child." This address will have public significance. Another interesting address in the evening will be "Music for Children," by Mrs. L. V. Sweegy, teacher of music in Berkeley Public Schools. At 5:45 the company, including about fifty pastors and nearly twice as many delegates, will sit at table with two-minute talks by several speakers.

FOURTH ANNUAL STEVENSON BANQUET

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The fourth annual Stevenson Fellowship banquet, held in honor of the birthday of Robert Louis Stevenson, was held at the California Hotel last evening and was attended by about fifty guests.

At the conclusion of the dinner, the following interesting program was rendered: "The Day We Celebrate," Alex M. Sutherland, Oakland; song, "The Lad That Is Gone," (Stevenson), George St. John Brenner, San Francisco; "Ten Years After," a twentieth century estimate of Roberts Louis Stevenson by Professor Chauncey Wetmore Wells, University, composed and read by Charles Keeler, Berkeley. "Stevenson's Religion" Rev. William Rader, San Francisco; songs: (a) "Moana ke ala," island melody. (b) "Tofa mai Feleni," Samoan farewell song, Miss Eleanor McLennan, San Francisco. "The Effect of Modern Life on Modern Literature," David Starr Jordan, Stanford University, poem "Robert Louis Stevenson," (Bruce Porter), Mrs. Virgil Williams, San Francisco; Evening Prayer by Stevenson, Rev. Dr. Ernest E. Baker was toastmaster, and Mrs. C. P. Rust was accompanist.

Broad bows of pink and blue velvet, covered with glittering sequins, are shown for the hair.

STERILIZED BARBER SHOP.

A Famous Shop in the Carrollton Hotel, Baltimore, Maryland.

The barber shop in the Carrollton Hotel, Baltimore, sterilizes everything it uses in the shop. The sterilizing is done by heat. The towels, the razors, the strops, the soap, the combs and the brushes are all sterilized before being used on a customer. Where there is no sterilization have the barber use Newbro's Herpicide. It kills the dandruff germ, and it is an antiseptic for the scalp and for the face after shaving. All leading barbers everywhere appreciate these potent facts about Herpicide and they use it. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit, Michigan. Bowman & Company, Special Agents.

APPOINTED ON COMMISSION.

LONDON, November 14.—A dispatch to a news agency from St. Petersburg says that Vice-Admiral Sir Lewis Anthony Beaumont has been appointed British representative on the North Sea Commission to inquire into the firing on British trawlers by the Russian Baltic squadron.

"Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron," the dispatch adds, "had a good voyage from Tangier to Dakar, where it is now coaling from German colliers. The other portion of the fleet is still repairing at Suda Bay and elaborate precautions have been taken for the safety of a further section of the squadron that is about to sail from the Baltic."

SCHOONER IN DISTRESS.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., November 14.—The three-masted schooner Bessie Parker (Br.), Captain Whelpley, bound from Port Johnson for St. John, N. B. with a cargo of coal, broke anchor chains here last night during the heavy northeast gale and went ashore on the west side of the harbor. She pounded heavily and leaked so badly that her pumps could not keep her free. It will be necessary to light the ship's cargo before she can be floated.

The storm had abated somewhat later and the vessel lies easy.

SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES.

REV. E. E. BAKER ADDRESSES YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

At the meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon Rev. E. E. Baker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, gave an interesting address on "Why Young Men Should be Christians." His address in part was as follows:

"Men everywhere," said Dr. Baker, "the world over, are religious, invariably religious. To destroy the faculty of religion in man would involve the destruction of man himself. The simplest definition of religion is a meeting of God in man. Man, to be at his very best, his highest attainable character, must be in communion with God. Since man was given the faculty of religion, the way to get religion is simply to let it grow, to let it come out and develop. It is not enough to be religious, but young men should accept the highest form of religion, which is Christianity. A study of comparative religion only shows that in Christianity God spoke his last word, gave the last revelation to man. Christianity alone affirms the fatherhood of God and asserts the immortality of the human soul."

OLD MAN RUN OVER BY WAGON

J. C. Pelton, a pioneer teacher of California, who is very deaf, was struck and run over by a horse and light wagon last night at the corner of East Twenty-second street and Twenty-fourth avenue, near the house of G. P. Gardner, with whom he lives. The old man was seriously injured, and lies in a critical condition.

Mr. Pelton was the first Superintendent of Schools of San Francisco. He served for many years in the schools in various capacities, being principal successively of the Mission, Union and Denman Schools. Failing health forced him to give up teaching several years ago. An injury, the result of being thrown out of a buggy, further crippled him and drained his resources in securing treatment. At last he was compelled to seek assistance, and some time ago was taken into the care of the Associated Charities, who pay for his support.
